Nevada Convicts Give Up

Weary, Hungry Cons Return To Cells

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Weary, hungry Nevada State Prison convicts gave up their abortive 26-hour bloodless rebellion Tuesday night in the face of threats that patrolmen guarding the prison walls were "preparing for a show down."

The convicts gave up five minutes after Warden Art Bernard warned the 200-odd striking prisoners that 25 heavily armed members of the Nevada State Patrol ringing the walls of the open yard "are getting tired and won't wait much longer.'

A reply came that the prisoners were ready to return to the cells they hadn't seen since Monday afternoon when they refused to budge from the recreation yard, demanding more privileges and better chances for parole.

Tired from hours under the broiling 95 degree sun, the convicts moved slowly into their cell blocks. Guards searched each one.

Tired And Sick

"The men don't want anything. They are tired and sick," a three-man committee of prisoners told the warden after he had issued his ultimatum.

Bernard ordered the convicts fed about 8 p.m. — 32 hours after their last meal which was at noon Monday. He said he had not decided what steps would be taken against the ring leaders.

"I'm going to sleep now," he said. Except for a couple of hours early Tuesday, he had been in his office constantly since Monday morning.

Two hours before the rebellion collapsed, the prisoners had allowed 18 elderly and sick convicts to return to their cells.

The others, hungry and sullen remained in the yard.

Among those returning to the cell block and their first meal in 30 hours was Tony Jackson, 86 Hawthorne, Nev., murderer.

The rebellion had settled into a tense waiting game between the convicts and Bernard early Tuesday and neither side had made a move until 4 p.m., when the weaker prisoners were allowed to move out.

The convicts gave Bernard a long list of complaints. The warden immediately labeled the grievances "unfounded," and added bitterly:

"These men have more damned privileges than in any other place in the country."

Two Children Hit By Car, Injured

A brother and sister, were hospitalized Tuesday after being struck by a car at 14th and A as they were crossing the street.

Charles Gove, 4, was hospitalized with a fracture of the right leg and possible concussion. His sister, Ann, 7, suffered bruises and abraisions. Both were treated at Lincoln General Hospital.

The children's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Gove of 1411 A.

Driver of the car was Merlin G. Norton, 27, of 213 E, Huskerville.

The accident occurred shortly before noon.

Overheated Grease Sets Fire In Highway Cafe

An overheated pan of grease caused a fire which smoked the walls of a kitchen at a cafe at 4815 Cornhusker Highway late Tuesday night.

Firemen doused the flames after the alarm had been reported by Mrs. Arnold Matthes who lives back of the kitchen.

Apartment Robbed

An apartment burglary at 1235 K netted burglars three piggy banks of cash totaling $31.50 and a class ring estimated by police at $25. Police said the apartment of Marilyn Divan on the third floor was entered by springing the night lock with a flat instrument.

Find Yank Ice Cream 'Khorosho!'

The Russian farm delegation touring Iowa Tuesday enjoyed an old American dish—ice cream, stopping at Oskaloosa en route to Washington. Apparently ignoring the cameramen behind them are (left to right) their undentified American press agent and interpreter; Aleksander V. Tulupnikov and N. M. Gureyev. Two delegates ordered "Idiot's Delight" ice cream sundaes. Aladimir Matskevich, delegation chief, tried an ice cream soda for the first time. When asked how he liked the soda, Matskevich said, "Khorosho!" That means good. (AP Wirephoto.)

Trade Beats Fighting, Says Red Ag Deputy

Soviet Farm Delegation Leader Backs Proposal By Iowan

OSKALOOSA, Ia. (INS)—"To trade is better than to fight," declared the U.S.S.R.'s deputy minister of agriculture Tuesday while touring Iowa's rich hog and corn lands.

V. V. Matshevich. leader of a 12-man Soviet farm delegation, put himself firmly in support of an Iowa farm leader's proposal for a "free exchange of trade" between the U.S. and Russia.

The proposal was made by E. Howard Hill, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau, at a lavish banquet honoring the Russians.

The Soviet official's reply was given in much more informal surroundings — during an unscheduled stop at an Oskaloosa dairy bar where the Russinas sampled a variety of ice cream concoctions.

Matskevich revealed that he and other members of the delegation had been giving serious thought to Hill's recommendation that trade be resumed between the two countries. He said:

"I did not catch the concrete details of Mr. Hill's proposal but in principle, I am for the widest trade between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

Unscheduled

"We think to trade is better than to fight."

The Russian delegation made an unscheduled stop at an Oskaloosa, Ia., dairy bar called the Milky Way Tuesday en route to visit the farm of George Hora near Washington, Ia.

Unbowed Heads

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (INS)—Members of the Russian farm delegation touring Iowa stood with unbowed heads Tuesday night as prayer was offered opening a banquet given by the agricultural committee of the Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce.

The prayer, intoned by the Rev. Dr. Jackson Burns of St. Paul's Methodist Church, was translated phrase by phrase for the Russians but they gave no indication of a religious mein other than to stand in silence.

V. V. Matskevich, first deputy minister of agriculture and head of the delegation, let his eyes roam over the room, watching the reactions of the 250 guests as the prayer was given.

Tour Interior

KHARKOV, Ukraine (AP)—Twelve American farmers Tuesday began their tour of the Soviet interior. In this Ukrainian city they were surrounded by a curious crowd among whom a woman raised her voice and shouted in Russian, "Long live the friendship between the United States and the U.S.S.R."

When the farmers got the shout translated they applauded.

RAIN ENTERS STATE; MORE IS EXPECTED

Rain fell in several spots in Nebraska Tuesday and more of the same was predicted for most of the state Wednesday.

In Omaha Tuesday afternoon a heavy rain fell, with a little hail. The fall was unofficially estimated at up to 3.50 inches in an hour in a north Omaha area and up to three inches in the Forest Lawn Cemetery district. At one time water in the streets was up to doors of cars, observers said.

At one point a sewer and some sidewalks were caved in, and a few power lines knocked down. Downtown only a light rain fell. The Omaha weather Bureau reported .77 and the North Omaha Airport reported 1.26.

It was to be partly cloudy through Wednesday night with scattered thundershowers during the afternoon and night in the east and extreme north.

Highs Wednesday were to reach "near 90." The highest reading in the state Tuesday was 93 at Chadron. Lincoln reported a high of 86.

Over half an inch of rain was reported Tuesday at Norfolk and rain was scattered over the Norfolk area. An area west of Grand Island received about half an inch, but Grand Island itself had only .01 of an inch. Ainsworth was hit by a late afternoon thunderstorm, and Columbus had .91 of an inch of rain.

The Lincoln Air Force Base and North Platte reported a trace of rain.

Woman Slips On Ship; Routs 5,000 Sailors

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — An alarm was sounded throughout 25 ships of the U. S. Navy here Tuesday.

The shrill of bosuns pipes and the blare of loud speakers passing the word startled every man from admiral to cook.

"Theres a woman aboard," blared the speakers.

Every one of the estimated 5,000 sailors on the 25 ships was routed to quarters to prove that he wasn't she.

She was finally located after an hour's scurry and search, in a steel locker back of the after smoke stack on the U. S. destroyer Hollister.

Turned over to police, she identified herself as Betty D. Talk, 24, and was quoted by Patrolman Glen N. A. Lebus as saying: "I got drunk and slipped aboard."

The alarm was sounded when a water taxi operator reported he believed one of his passengers to a ship — he couldn't remember which ship — was a woman disguised as a sailor.

TOT INJURED

Seventeen-months-old Dorothy Ann Williams of 1205 No. 22nd, suffered a head injury in a two-car collision at 17th and Vine Tuesday evening.

She was reported in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital early Wednesday morning.

The tot was a passenger in a car driven by her father, Dock S. Williams, 27, of 1205 No. 22nd, who was driving west on Vine.

The car collided with another driven by Elvin Turner, 29, of 2228 Potter, who was traveling north on 17th Street.

Mrs. Victor Anderson, wife of the governor, was reported in good condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital early Wednesday morning where she is suffering from hypertension.

She was hospitalized July 16.

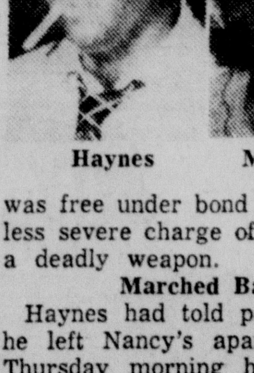
Wife Acts As Own Lawyer, Convinces Jury Hubby's Lover Died Accidentally

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 28-year-old outraged wife acted as her own attorney Tuesday and swiftly convinced a coroner's jury it was not true—as her husband charged—that she coldly shot down a younger rival for his love.

The jury, after watching Mrs. Katherine Ann Haynes step from her real-life role as a postal clerk and play the part of a relentless lawyer, held the early-morning kiling of Nancy Penton was accidental.

Miss Penton, 19 and auburn-haired, was shot about 12.30 a.m. Tuesday in the apartment she is reported to have shared with Willis M. (Mickey) Haynes, balding 32-year-old vacuum cleaner salesman from nearby Arlington, Va. Haynes contended his wife shot purposely; she said the gun went off accidentally when the younger woman grappled with her.

The coroner's jury verdict is not necessarily final. Asst. U. S. Atty. Kenneth Wood said he would announce Wednesday whether a homicide charge would be drawn and the case taken to a grand jury. In the meantime Mrs. Haynes, who says she's been told that cancer allows her only a year to live,



Haynes

was free under bond on the much less severe charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Marched Back

Haynes had told police that as he left Nancy's apartment early Thursday morning his wife met him outside, marched him back in at gunpoint and forced him to stand by as she fired at the girl. She put the pistol down on a piano, he said, and departed.

Miss Penton, who police said came to Washington two years ago from McLaine, Miss., died an hour later in a hospital.

Haynes had given the same account at the inquest when his wife said she wanted to ask some questions.

In the manner of an experienced interrogator, the mother of four children frequently began, "is it not true.....?" At times she stood, at others she leaned back in her chair and tapped her fingers commandingly on a table.

Lunged At Her

Occasionally she fired questions so rapidly that Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald had to intervene.

Mrs. Haynes had told police earlier she did force her husband to accompany her to the apartment. But when they got there, she was quoted, Miss Penton cursed and lunged at her.

She said she grabbed the girl's pajamas and the pistol went off accidentally when Miss Penton's hand struck it.

Haynes said as he left the northeast Washington apartment early Tuesday morning he found his wife in his car outside. She had a pistol, he said, and snapped: "I want to see Nancy." Nancy was on the bed and wearing only pajama tops when they entered, Haynes said.

Big Decision At The Summit

President Eisenhower examines a doll in a Geneva toy store Tuesday while on a shopping spree for his grandchildren. While secret service agents struggled to hold back a crowd that gathered outside the shop, Ike selected dolls for his granddaughters, Barbara Anne, 5, Susan, 3, and a glider for his grandson, David, 7. He also purchased a toy Swiss horn. All who could pressed noses against the window to watch the President. (AP Wirephoto via Radio from London.)

Emergency Shop, Chest To Separate

...Full Budget Sought From County

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A budget request made to the Lancaster County Board by the Community Emergency Shop has indicated that the agency will withdraw from the Community Chest and be operated as a county-only agency.

A joint announcement of details in the withdrawal is expected Wednesday from the county and the Chest, but the Emergency Shop has already submitted to the county board a $10,077 budget request for 1955-56 operation as a county-supported agency beginning Aug. 1.

The budget of the Emergency Shop, a long-time Red Feather agency, had been met by both the Community Chest and the county in the past. Last year the Chest contributed $6,800 and the county, $6,000.

However, friction over the budget split developed last year when the Community Chest indicated that the County contribution should be bigger as county agencies were using about 70 per cent of shop's services.

The County Board said then that if the county paid more than 50 per cent of the amount needed to operate the shop, it believed the shop should become a county function rather than a private charity.

The Chest indicated that if its future support were continued, the shop would probably be merged with the Goodwill Industries.

The Emergency Shop gives clothes and supplies to needy persons on order of any of its participating agencies. As a county-supported agency, it will continue to service the county relief department, the county public welfare division, the service center, and the city-county health department.

The County pointed out the function of the Emergency Shop would be lost if merged with Goodwill Industries, which sell supplies rather than giving them out.

However, the Community Chest points out that Red Feather agencies receive a discount from the Goodwill for relief cases.

The County Board decided to adopt the Emergency Shop because of its value in county relief work.

The shop is a valuable agency for the receiving and reconditioning of used clothes and supplies and could not be duplicated elsewhere for relief work of the county.

GIRL BURNED IN FREAK BLAZE

HEMINGFORD, Neb, (AP) — Twelve-year-old Sharon Davies remained in critical condition Tuesday with burns she received in a freak accident at her farm home near here.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Davies, were in satisfactory condition recovering from lesser burns, their doctor said.

The fire was the second time tragedy struck the family in less than a year. Last summer four of the Davies' six children—Velma, Eddie, Carey and Roger — contracted polio. Eddie has been home only a month from the polio foundation at Warm Springs, Ga., where he received treatment.

The three were burned when gasoline Davies was using to clear a kitchen drain ignited. The gasoline, poured down the kitchen drain, came through a drain in the basement flooding the floor until a flame from a hot water heater ignited it.

Mrs. Davies, Sharon and another daughter, Velma, were in the basement washing clothes at the time.

Bulganin Says 'No'

U.S. APPEAL FOR UNIFIED GERMANY ALLIED TO WEST MEETS A FIRM REJECTION FROM SOVIET

By PRESTON GROVER

GENEVA (AP) — Summoning Marshal Georgi Zhukov to witness his truthfulness, President Eisenhower gave Soviet leaders a personal pledge Tuesday that the Western alliance will never attack Russia. He appealed to them to permit a unified Germany defensively allied with the West.

But Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin firmly rejected German unification on that basis.

The debate in Tuesday afternoon's session of the summit conference left little doubt the unification issue is tightly deadlocked between Russia and the Western powers.

Bulganin made clear that a divorcing of Germany from the Western European Union and the Atlantic alliance is Russia's price for uniting the country.

The President's appeal was described by officials present as the most moving and emotional talk in the conference to date.

The president said he wanted to talk about the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the purposes of this collective security arrangement. He asked Zhukov to listen carefully, explaining he made this request because they are old friends.

Then he said Zhukov knows that, on the basis of one soldier speaking to another, the President has never spoken a single word which is not true. He asked the Russians to accept his word as a soldier that the United States would never be a party to aggression, and that Russia had nothing to fear from NATO.

No Dent In Hard Reality

Zhukov, allied with Eisenhower in Germany at the close of World War II, sat attentively as the President spoke. When Bulganin replied later his words were cordial. But the exchange of views seemed not to dent the hard reality of Big Four differences over Germany's future.

Germany is topic No. 1 on the agenda for the summit meeting. However, it is only one of many issues before the conerence and Western diplomats Tuesday night were somewhat optimistic. Some thought that in the end a little progress might be made on Germany, at least in creating greater understanding among the powers here.

At Tuesday's session, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Faure launched the Western argument for ending Germany's East-West division. They said early action was urgent and essential. They argued against Bulganin's opening position Monday that other countries—meaning Germany links with NATO—had to change first.

Faure, as chairman of Tuesday's session, spoke first, then Eden.

Eisenhower, speaking third, said he wanted to talk about uniting Germany from the point of view of the concept and purposes of NATO. He recalled that European nations had twice suffered German invasion in this century; it had cost the European nations dearly and even though Britain and the United States had not been invaded they had been hurt.

It was at this point the President asked Zhukov to listen carefully. The Soviet defense minister is an old friend, he observed, and knew that as a soldier Eisenhower never sopke a single word to him that was not true.

AGENDA

GENEVA (INS) —The agenda for the Big Four summit conference worked out in Geneva Tuesday:

1—German unification.
2—European security.
3—Disarmament.
4—Development of East-West contacts.

Douglas, Lancaster Called In

Equalization Board Seeks Tax Value Info

Lancaster and Douglas Counties will be called before the State Board of Equalization to explain their reports on 1955 assessed valuation "because the other counties all watch them."

"We don't think anything is wrong," Gov. Victor Anderson, board chairman, explained. He said he felt they ought to be checked as a matter of principle to contribute to "public understanding."

New construction in the two counties has jumped the valuations.

The board also voted to call in 19 other counties to explain their answers to a Tax Commission questionnaire. Two counties will be called to explain why they didn't answer the questionnaire.

Counties to which notice will be sent include: Chase, Dodge, Franklin, Kearney, Frontier, Garden, Holt, Wheeler, Garfield, Grant, Harlan, Johnson, Fillmore, Keith, Keya Paha, Kimball, Otoe, Scotts Bluff and York.

Drops Questioned

Chase will be asked to explain a drop of some $4 million in its total assessed valuation.

Dodge will be questioned about a drop of $452,535 in business schedules despite the apparent growth in population there.

Kearney and Franklin's call comes as the result of a school district that overlaps into both counties. The board will attempt to find a way to equalize taxes within the district.

Frontier and Garden failed to reply to the questionnaire.

A complaint from Holt County that the farm valuations in Wheeler and Garfield were far below those in Holt resulted in all three being called.

Grant and Harlan Counties were summoned to explain farm valuation reductions.

A drop of $134,960 in business values brought an order for Johnson County to appear.

Oil Info Asked

Scotts Bluff County was called to explain its valuation drop, the largest of any county in the state.

Kimball is asked for information on oil wells and their rate of assessment, and Otoe is being summoned to explain changes in valuations resulting from a court suit last year.

After a late session Tuesday night at which the board finished determining which counties to call in, Gov. Anderson said he thought that "on the whole, the counties have tried to do a fair and honest job."

"Even the counties being asked in are being called mostly so we can get a better understanding between the state and the county boards and learn how they arrived at their figures," he said.

The board also decided Tuesday night to stick by its assessment formula on trucks, despite requests of trucker representatives for a revision.

The formula allows 30 per cent depreciation the first year, 35 per cent the second, and 30 per cent in each subsequent year.

Herrington reported that no protests had been received from railroads, despite a 3.5 per cent increase in railroad assessments this year.

Aid Cuts By House Restored

Action In Senate Major Win For Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday voted to restore $565,600,000 of the $627,900,000 cut by the House from President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill.

The restorations, most of them made by a heavy vote, represented an important victory for the President on one of the key bills in his 1955 program.

The bill as reported out of the Senate Committee carried $3,204,341,750 for assistance to this country's friends throughout the world in the fiscal year which began July 1.

Thursday Debate

This compares with $3,266,641,750 asked by Eisenhower and $2,638,741,750 voted by the House.

The bill is to be taken up on the Senate floor Thursday. In view of the strong committee vote to knock out most of the House cuts, the administration's chances of holding the restorations on the floor appeared to be good.

Earlier, several senators had reported privately on restorations votes by the committee.

These were the restorations made by the Senate committee:

World wide military assistance—420 million dollars. This was the major House cut. The vote to restore the money was 14 to 7.

Special Fund

Defense support for Asian nations—$52,800,000.

President Eisenhower's special fund for Asian development—50 million. This gave him three-fourths of the 200 million he asked. The House had voted 100 million.

Direct forces support — $12,200,000.

Technical cooperation or point four aid—5 million.

Intergovernmental committee for European migration—$2,500,000.

United Nations relief and works agency—4 million.

Ocean freight charges for surplus agricultural commodities—3 million.

Services Held For Joann Burgess, 26

O'NEILL, Neb. — Funeral services were held here for Joann Burgess, 26, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Burgess of O'Neill. She died in a Rochester, Minn., hospital following a long illness.

She attended Colorado Women's College at Denver and was graduated from the University of Colorado at Boulder. She taught one term in a Denver junior high, but illness interrupted her teaching career.

Surviving are her parents and a brother, Warren L. Burgess of Lincoln.

Omaha Will Serve As Headquarters For Soviet Group

OMAHA (AP)—Soviet Russia's farm delegation will use Omaha as its base of operations during the group's two-day visit to Nebraska July 30 and 31, traveling from here to visit farming areas.

The Russians will arrive here the evening of Friday, July 29, following a 12-day tour of Iowa farms. The 12-man delegation of high ranking Soviets will be feted at a dinner and reception that night.

Some Stores' White Bread Cut 2 Cents

The retail price of white bread dropped from 22 to 20 cents a loaf at some Lincoln groceries Tuesday.

The price drop evidently started when two baking companies near Des Moines, Ia., cut wholesale prices in a "very competitive situation," according to Harold D. LeMar, president of an Omaha baking firm.

The Iowa wholesale drop caused retail prices to fall to 20 cents a loaf in most Omaha stores, and the drop spread to some Lincoln retailers.

A spokesman for the Wendelin Baking Co., in Lincoln said the bakery had had no reports of a retail price drop. He said there was "no justification for a drop here," although a "battle" is on in Omaha and Des Moines.

The Continental Baking Co. here announced its retail price on white bread dropped to 20 cents a loaf Tuesday. Other Lincoln bakeries reported they knew nothing of the cut.

Several Lincoln retail stores reported the two-cent drop Tuesday while others said they knew nothing about it.

One retailer said it "looks like a developing situation," and that he felt the cut might become general in Lincoln. He lowered his price to 20 cents Tuesday morning. He attributed his cut to an "Iowa price war."

Another Lincoln retail grocer said one bakery had lowered its wholesale price a cent and a half to 17 cents a loaf but that this reduction had not yet affected retail prices here. He said grocers were "waiting to see what the other bakeries do."

The price lowering does not affect dark and specialty breads.

Wally Cox Is Rehired

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The hotel that fired Wally Cox last week Tuesday filed a $250,000 suit against the comedian's agency —and then promptly hired him back.

Cox was named in the suit, although the Dunes Hotel's complaint asked damages only from the William Morris Agency Inc., which booked Cox into the Dunes' floor show.

Joseph Sullivan, president of the Dunes Hotel Inc., said that Cox, television's Mr. Peepers, starts Wednesday night at the same $11,000 a week he was promised in the beginning for a four-week stand.

Bridenbaugh Asks For Full Budget Reports

The Legislature's Budget Committee has recommended that all state departments furnish a monthly statement of both unexpended and unencumbered balances to the Legislature while it is in session so the committee can better understand the departments' financial status.

Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, chairman of the committee, said in announcing the recommendation, that just the unexpended balance failed to give a true picture.

He explained that the unencumbered balance gave a better indication because it showed funds that have not been set aside to meet some expense.

Compilations by the Legislative Council Tuesday indicated the Budget Committee underestimated carry-over funds in the hands of state agencies by about 12½ million dollars.

The Budget Committee had estimated the money still held at the end of the biennium June 30 at $15,082,391. Legislative Council tallies put the actual total at $27,630,322.

Sen. Bridenbaugh has said the committee could only use the estimates made by the agencies themselves.

Although the higher-than-anticipated carry-over means more money is available for spending in the biennium than the Legislature had envisioned, Gov. Victor Anderson warned the agencies this doesn't mean they are to spend the extra money.

Med School Removes Some Fire Hazards

OMAHA (AP) — University of Nebraska College of Medicine officials Tuesday reported progress in the job of removing fire hazards criticized in a recent report from the State Fire Marshal's office.

Workmen treated ward room draperies with fireproofing solvents.

Plans for an extra hospital dining room went ahead when engineers learned that the wall in which the door will be cut is not a weight bearing wall.

College officials predicted a 10-day delay before they could reach an estimate of the cost of the fireproofing job but said the figure would be between $80,000 and $100,000.

Other major changes recommended by the Fire Marshal's office were:

South building —escape route from fifth floor, better storage of ether and smoke barrier partition.

North building —additional exits from the west lounge lecture room, re-installation of a fire escape, placement of illuminated lights.

Coffee shop —enlargement of closing.

Service building — Additional exit from the second floor, flammable liquid storage room, underground gasoline storage.

Laundry building — another entrance.

St. Elizabeth Staff Changes Discussed For Emergencies

A St. Elizabeth Hospital authority said discussion at the Executive Board meeting Tuesday centered around experiences encountered during the first two weeks the hospital has been without interns.

He said changes in the present system of emergency service were suggested. The hospital is now operating under a system whereby staff members cover emergency cases by assignment.

Interns had been used for emergencies under the direction of staff members. No Lincoln hospital received any interns from the June graduating classes of any medical school.

The hospital staff will have to make any changes in the emergency case plan, the official said. Changes suggested at the Executive Board meeting will be considered at the staff meeting next Tuesday.

Opponents Of Hells Canyon Lose A Round

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hells canyon Dam legislation barely survived a move to pigeonhole it Tuesday. Members of Congress disagreed as to how it will fare during the remainder of the waning session of Congress.

The House Interior Reclamation Subcommittee rejected, 13-11, a motion to postpone indefinitely action on bills to authorize a 308-million dollar federal dam in the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake river along the Idaho-Oregon border.

It was a party line vote, with Democrats opposing the motion by Rep. Miller (R-Neb.) and Republicans supporting it.

Sponsors of two identical Hells Canyon bills said they were encouraged by the vote. But two Republicans said the vote shows the legislation will not get through the committee this year.

Proponents of the legislation are hopeful committee approval would cause the Federal Power Commission (FPC) to defer action on the Idaho Power Company's applications to build three dams in the Hells Canyon stretch of the Snake. The Three dams, costing 133 million dollars, would flood the proposed federal Hells Canyon Dam site.

City Is Studying Possibilities For Using Federal Road Funds

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The city engineering department is making a study of Lincoln's urban highway needs in view of some $330,507 in federal funds available to the city on a matching basis for the urban system.

Deputy State Engineer H. G. Schlitt has advised the city of the federal aid funds now available and the expiration dates. Lincoln has $144,723 available to it that must be placed under contract by Jan. 1, 1956 if it is to be used.

Another $185,784 became available in July and will lapse unless used by Jan. 1, 1958.

Projects to use the federal funds would be "very desirable for Lincoln" in the opinion of Public Works Director D. L. Erickson. The need for a more adequate highway system, both through and between cities, is clearly demonstrated, Erickson said, by the big federal highway program.

Might All Be Used

While a matter for final City Council decision, Erickson said it would be physically possible for the city to make use of all federal funds now available. The city he said, has some $100,000 in gas tax and auto registration fees this year that could be used to match $100,000 of the $144,723 that expires this coming Jan. 1.

Use of the remaining $44,723 could be placed under contract by the city before the end of the year. These would be contracts that would be paid for out of the 1956 gas tax and registraiton fee receipts.

This plan would still leave enough to match in 1956 the $185,784 in federal funds that would lapse in January of 1958. It is estimated that Lincoln's gas tax and registration fees in 1956 will be about $320,000.

Only On Highways

The urban aid funds can only be used on the city's approved urban aid system. This system covers highways 34, 6 and 77 through Lincoln, both the northeast and southeast radial highways from the downtown area, 27th from D to South and a planned system of downtown distributor streets.

Highways 34, 6 and 77 would include work on 10th and O Streets through the city.

To date, Lincoln has only used urban aid funds on one project, the nearly $1 million start on the southeast radial from 21st and K to 27th and D. This is a 50-50 matching project between the city and federal government, with the exception of some minor details.

Aside from the radial project, the city's gas tax and registration fees have been used for street improvements on other than the urban system where no matching funds are available.

County Board Told Trailers In Beach Residential Area

A complaint has been made to the Lancaster County Board that land in the residential area south of Capitol Beach is being used by trailer owners.

George Rudolph of 1840 West Q complained that "six trailers are now scattered around the area."

He said an acre was sold recently to two purchasers. One constructed a house, but the other put a trailer on his half-acre.

One trailer has been there two years, another for one year, four for less than four months, and two only since last Saturday night, he said.

Commissioner Chris Kuhner said if the trailers were in violation of the county code, action would be taken.

The matter was referred to Commissioner Del Lienemann, county zoning board chairman. Lienemann is presently vacationing.

'New Moon' Plays To 20,000; Good Weather Was Help

Lincoln's community operetta, which this year was "New Moon" by Sigmund Romberg, was a success this year as in the past six years.

About 20,000 persons attended the four performances of the operetta directed by Oscar Bennett, professor at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Miss Norma Carpenter, president of the Civic Singfest Committee, said its success was helped by good weather on all four nights. In the seven years the show has been given, rain has interrupted five times, she said.

She added that Friday, Saturday and Sunday performances were improved by the re-routing of airplanes. Planes were disturbing Thursday night, she said.

A favorite act with the children was the Davy Crockett dance which was worked into the score.

Work Under Way On Power Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may get a Reclamation Bureau report this session on the feasibility of a heavy power transmission line from Fort Randall Dam to Grand Island, Neb.

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.) said Tuesday he has been informed the bureau is working on the survey. No promise has been made to deliver the report before Congress adjourns, he said, but the bureau reportedly will try to finish it by then.

Lifts Blackout On Vaccine

WASHINGTON (INS) — The government lifted its Salk polio vaccine news blackout Tuesday and disclosed that as of July 13 there were 209 confirmed cases of the disease among children who have been inoculated.

The 12-day secrecy policy presumably was ended as a result of complaints against the July 7 order which eliminated periodical reports on the number of such polio cases on the ground that they were "without meaning."

A U. S. Public Health Service spokesman announced the controversial order had been cancelled and that the figures will now be made public at least once a week.

COST: 1 ICE CREAM SODA A DAY

If your doctor prescribed an ice cream soda a day for 10 days to gett you out of a sick bed, you'd take your "medicine" gladly . . . with little thought to its cost. When figured on the basis of the quantity of medicine the doctor asks you to take every 24 hours, today's prescription rarely costs you more than a daily ice cream soda. But it does something no ice cream soda can do. It cures disease.

Three County Departments Ask Budget Hikes

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Budget hearings before the Lancaster County Board began Tuesday with three departments so far requesting increased appropriations for the 1955-56 fiscal year.

Largest increase was sought for the county attorney's office, which proposed a $47,195 budget, representing $9,194.72 more than spent the past year.

Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele said the county attorney and tax foreclosure budgets were combined this year to promote "office efficiency" and a "better bookkeeping system."

Approximately $4,400 of the increase represented proposed salary boosts for deputy county attorneys and secretaries.

Scheele asked the salary of his chief deputy, Dale Fahrnbruch, be increased from $4,350 to $5,500 a year and that salaries of his other two deputies be increased to $4,500 a year. They are presently paid $3,600 and $3,200.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp submitted a $62,510 budget for his office and $29,870 for the jail, representing increases of $8,240 and $2,294, respectively, over 1954-55 expenditures.

Karnopp said $6,000 in the sheriff's budget represented salary increases, of which $3,210 had already been approved by the county board. Other major items were $2,250 for car radio units and $584 for a new patrol car purchased during July.

The other budget request heard was that of County Assessor Arthur M. Davis who asked $85,450. This compares with $82,420.89 actually spent during the previous year.

Thr request contained a $15-a-month increase for 14 staff members, the chief deputy and the field deputy.

Davis also estimated an increased office expense as the result of the new state law requiring farmers to keep a monthly inventory to determine an average figure for assessments.

During the afternoon, the Board held a closed-door session with county office heads on salary increases.

Board Chairman Russell Brehm declined to discuss the meeting, except to say "we wanted their advice and counsel before the Board takes action on proposed salary increases."

Brehm estimated a $15-a-month across the board raise for county employees would cost the county $75,000 more a year.

A Job To Do

Arbitration brought clearing skies to the controversy between farmer irrigators and the Loup River Public Power District in north central Nebraska.

The farmers who need the water from the Loup for their crops and the LRPPD which needs it for electric power production will both be served—the farmers by payment of an adjusted price per acre foot and the LRPPD by receiving the payments to cover that which would have been additional revenue from power that would have been generated had the irrigation water remained in the river.

It is to be presumed that the settlement is mutually satisfactory and that good will between the power agency and the Loup valley farmers will continue unvexed. The state generally is pleased to know that its people prefer to settle difference by negotiation. But the incident serves as a reminder. It is that Nebraska is becoming more and more water conscious—that even in eastern Nebraska with its abundant rainfall, irrigation for ever-normal production is rapidly coming to the fore. Greater conservation of water in its rivers is a future "must." Even yet the greater amount of its water—enough for all conceivable irrigation needs plus electric power uses—continues to flow away unrestrained and unproductive.

Losing Population?

It was a thought-provoking report that emanated from the Tenth District Federal Reserve Bank at Kansas City for July.

It said that demand deposits of individuals and businesses in the district—it includes Nebraska—increased $214 million during 1954, more than overcoming a reduction of $32.6 million in 1953. The region's gain which amounted to 4.7 per cent did not keep pace with the national gain which was 9.1 per cent.

The report went on to say that the dip was largely the result of a decline in demand deposits by farming enterprises. The contraction in 1954 was $21.5 million following a 1953 with its even greater contraction of $38.4 million. Federal Reserve said demand deposits from farming was at the lowest point since 1946.

Thus the long shadow of curtailed production and lower price supports tends to show itself in farm earnings. There is evidence that while the Benson attack on national food surpluses may be having its troubles getting rid of them, it is working effectively in getting rid of the farmer's surplus dollars.

But in dwelling in more detail on the agricultural decline, the Federal Reserve made an arresting comment. It said that while the general field had declined, it was quite possible that the deposits of the individual farmer are holding up. The answer to this seeming paradox, the report suggests, is in a decline in farm population. There is reference to the emigration of farmers to other localities and to other occupations. And consequently there is a tendency of the remaining operators to acquire more land, overcoming declining revenues by broader scale production.

Such action may solve the economic problems of the individual farmer, but the political consequences so far as states like Nebraska are concerned are not happy ones. Population is an important factor in the well-being of any state and greater population is a desirable goal and a proper factor, especially where states by increased development and production can support the gain. Nebraska is greatly more abundant that it was 50 years ago. It can support far more citizens. Yet it is being caught in a reverse trend as are its sister agricultural states. Prudent and long-range thinking must face this dilemma and solve it lest the future suffer.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif.—A recent issue of The Lincoln Star reaching us told of the death of John Allen Freeman, son of Daniel Freeman, first homesteader in the United States under the provisions of the Abe Lincoln act of 1863. On leave from the Union Army at old Ft. Kearny, in the early morning hours of a new day and a new year Dan Freeman filed for a homestead on the banks of Cub Creek, west of Beatrice.

Fitted Frontier Type

Our only recollection of Dan Freeman in the flesh is the hazy memory of a boy still to enter the "teen"-age. Dan Freeman was idling in a chair on the porch of that homestead house (not the log cabin of first construction), a frame structure near enough to a deep creek pool that he could have used its cool depths for a spittoon had he chosen. It seemed to us that he was above average height—tall, lanky, in facial expression particularly around the eyes a frontier man who had lived with the winds of the vast spaces. In bearing and in movements, he fitted the generally accepted conception of the frontier. It is said that more than a million homes came into individual possession under the provisions of that law. It was so different in southern California, including the area known as Palos Verdes (green spikes). This community was a grant to the Leo Carrillo family of movie fame from the Spanish king. There were many of those huge, rich grants. Fifteen years ago while over in the Central Valley in one of many jaunts to this west coast from the Canadian Northwest to the near-Mexican border, we came upon one of the grants so large, we were told, we could ride a full day and still be on its original acres.

The sale and transfer of these estates in a densely populated region contributed not infrequently to swollen fortunes . . . It could have been one of the contributing factors to the old reclamation views of President Theodore Roosevelt and his able Secretary of the Interior Pinchot in the opening years of the century . . . There was the unwritten law, later reduced to writing, that no individual could have more than adequate water for the irrigation of 160 acres of land . . . That provision is the basis of one whale of a fight now in Congress . . . With the farms growing bigger, we heard criticism of it from the headwaters of the Missouri, particularly bitter criticism in Wyoming and Montana.

All This, And More, Too

Just beyond the surf of the beach directly below us is one of the better known "kelp beds" of this region . . . Correction, please . . . Californians insist that the real term to be used is "kelp forests." . . . They say that down under for some considerable depth the beds resemble forests ever so much . . . Maybe . . . We are not exploring . . . On a recent morning inspection without trespassing on neighboring gardens we counted (on the fingers) 52 different specimens of flowering trees, shrubs, bushes and plants, some of them familiar in the Midwest—but more, many more, semi-tropical and a few transplanted from the South Seas . . . They spell out in brilliant colors the year around . . . Only liability is that falling of countless petals each day suggests careful sweeping each morning . . . Simply too darned lazy.

There are other liabilities which inject a chilling, somber note . . . No dusk out here closes in without traffic accidents or drownings or near-drownings . . . From Saturday eve through Sunday, listened to the shrill sirens of six ambulance calls . . . Five of them the result of traffic crashes . . . One near-drowning . . . Disneyland had its formal opening yesterday . . . L.A. Times hailed it as a $17.5 million investment . . . The Lincoln Star carries "Merry Menagerie" and "Donald Duck" and not infrequently other Disney features . . . The children's delight in animal characters, including some that appear in The Lincoln Star, are packed into Disneyland . . . Only criticism we heard came from a land-conscious transplanted Nebraskan who could not quite overlook the fact that the first construction steps called for bulldozers to uproot 160 acres of fine orange groves on some of the finest, most fertile valley land . . . He has the notion that growing population does not leave us too much productive land . . . He also has the notion water takes equal rank with fertile land in basic American resources.

Lost Cause

There are going to be hot words and plenty of last ditch stands before all American men are forced into wearing Bermuda shorts. But the seasoned observer extends little hope and sympathy to the holdout. After all the latter was the same fellow who 20 years ago appeared on the hottest days of the year with high topped shoes, flannel pants, a shirt with a high hard collar, a tight necktie, a coat and a hard straw hat, yes, garters, sleeve bands and suspenders, too. If he went for that he'll go for anything.

$15 Million For Smog

Congress lately appropriated $15 million and told the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to go to work finding out what to do about smog.

Smog is one of the new products of modern urbo-industrial civilization that one doesn't brag about—a combination of fog and any number of waste gases, city dust and other things that combine against good health. It was identified as the cause of death of 21 citizens of Donora, Pa., in 1948, and is being held suspect in the rise of respiratory diseases especially noticeable where it occurs.

The agricultural Middle West, whose air remains uncontaminated, still enjoys the blessings of a wholesome outdoors and will not directly benefit from this new federal research, Indeed if it took the self-centered attitude apparent now and then in the coastal areas toward agricultural appropriations or provisions for soil reclamation and flood control it could oppose the research on the grounds that it is of interest and benefit only to special regions, and therefore not in the national interest. But Middle Westerners don't seem to look at things that way and will endorse research for better health elsewhere as it would for the same here. It hopes the department experiences early success.

Could Stand A Little

We imagine that the officers and directors of the Lincoln Chiefs are grappling with a dilemma—one made especially acute by the mauling the Chiefs just received at the hands of the last place Sioux City club.

Always a pennant contender and lately bolstered by fresh and strong talent the Chiefs continue to do better killing giants—not so well with the humbler rivals. That is not an unusual phenomenon that turns baseball dons gray headed. Witness Monday night's game. The Chiefs garnered 19 hits while the Sioux had to settle for 12. But the Sioux got 13 runs to the Chiefs' nine, and runs are the pay-off.

It is a good time to remind the management of a piece of wisdom once expressed by a veteran manager whose team was leading the league in hitting and fielding, but not in the averages. "We're good," he quoth. "A team's gotta be good to make first division. But to be a pennant winner—a team has gotta be good and also lucky. We are fresh out of lucky."

Friends Of Idaho Senator Get Jobs

WASHINGTON — Here's another episode in the payroll generosity of Idaho's bouncing junior senator, Herman Welker. This chapter might be called, "The Case of the Yellow Shoes."

This column has already reported how Herman arranged for his brother, Ted, to lead the cushy life of a retired truck driver in Twin Falls, Idaho, at the taxpayer's expense. The senator simply put brother Ted on the Senate payroll for $5,200 a year. Meanwhile Ted remains in Idaho, doing no visible work for the taxpayer, though a senator's payroll is supposed to be spent for the benefit of the constituents who send the senator to Washington.

Herman also helped his nephew, Craig Nelson, and a family friend, William Cook, "work" their way through the University of Idaho by paying them a Senate salary for part of the college year. The senator has hinted mysteriously that the two boys were investigating Communists on the university campus for him.

In addition to all this, Senate pay vouchers also reveal that Welker kept an ex-employee, Marion "Pete" Jensen, on the payroll for a year after he had returned to Preston, Idaho, to teach high school. It is unknown whether Welker was also looking for communists in the Preston high school.

Welker and Jensen served together in the Idaho state Senate, then came to Washington together after Welker's election to the United States Senate. Both showed up on the Washington social scene wearing almost identical yellow shoes.

Herman noticed nobody else in the Senate wore loud yellow shoes, so he switched to a more conservative color. "Pete" Jensen, however, who then worked as Welker's administrative assistant, refused to part with his yellow brogans. He liked yellow. But one day Jensen walked on the Senate floor to deliver some papers to Welker. All Herman could see were the yellow shoes moving across the carpet—plump, squeak, plump. Turning to an aide, Herman grumbled: "that so-and-so has worn those yellow shoes on the Senate floor for the last time."

Firing Jensen, however, was a ticklish job, since he has political influence in Southern Idaho. To soften the blow, Welker put out a weepy press release about "losing my good right arm." He also did something more tangible: He kept Jensen on the payroll for a full year, even though Jensen packed his yellow shoes and went back to his former job as high-school teacher in Preston.

Idaho Republicans will be surprised at another name on Welker's Senate payroll — Harry A. Nock, a prominent Idaho Democrat. Welker and Nock also served in the Idaho state Senate together, though Nock never bothered to go back to Washington to work for Welker. Nock was carried on the Senate payroll from Nov. 23, 1953, until recently.

All this may explain why Welker has a reputation for generosity—with the taxpayers' money.

ALABAMA JUDGESHIP

A hot backstage battle is taking place in Alabama over the question of whom Eisenhower will appoint as federal judge to replace the late U. S. Judge Charles B. Kennamer for the middle district of Alabama.

The appointment of Republican judges in the deep South always presents certain problems, in addition to which this is the first vacancy to occur on a southern district court since the recent Supreme Court segregation decision. Therefore, much of the South will be watching to see whether Eisenhower appoints an ex-Democrat turned Dixiecrat or a bona fide Republican who has stood by the party through the years.

The man who'll make the initial recommendation is Claude O. Vardaman GOP state chairman of the Alabama Power Co., which is part of the Dixon-Yates combine. One of its directors, John C. Persons, is the cousin of Ike's aide-for-influencing-Congress, Gen. Wilton Persons.

Vardaman is understood to have favored Frank M. Johnson, U.S. attorney at Birmingham, for the judgeship, but the Justice Department let it be known that someone must be selected from the Montgomery district, not from Birmingham.

Other prospects on the list are T. B. Hill Jr., of Montgomery; Bill Albritten of Andalusia; and Ralph Kennamer of Montgomery, son of the late judge.

Hill and Albritten are Dixiecrats. Kennamer is an old-line, genuine Republican, from one of Alabama's most famous Republican families who has been faithful to the party for years. Kennamer was associated with his father in the judge's office for about 20 years.

He and Vardaman and Attorney General Brownell battled together to nominate Tom Dewey in 1948 and also worked for Dewey in 1940 and 1944. Ralph Kennamer was a Dewey delegate in 1948.

Since 1952, however, Vardaman has been somewhat cool to Kennamer because he supported Taft instead of Eisenhower. It's believed, however, that as a result of his long association with the GOP, Kennamer will be Vardaman's second choice for the judgeship and will be appointed to succeed his father.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Censoring of news by government agencies will be investigated by a House subcommittee to be headed by Congressman John E. Moss, California Democrat. Joining Moss in the probe will be Rep. Dante Fascell, Democrat of Florida, and Rep. Clare Hoffman, Republican of Michigan. Chairman William L. Dawson of the House Government Operations Committee has designated the three legislators to look into growing charges that federal departments are suppressing and distorting information about their operations and are hampering newsmen in their work of keeping the American people informed . . . Government doctors are experimenting with medicines they believe will counteract the effects of atomic radiation . . . U.S. international legal experts have found a sleeper in the Austrian peace treaty. The Russians managed to slip in a clause forcing Austria to trade in strategic materials behind the Iron Curtain.

Dixon-Yates Quiz Gets Nearer To Ike

WASHINGTON — Senator Estes Kefauver has addressed a polite note to Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief aide, asking when it will be convenient for Adams to explain to the Senate Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee his role in the Dixon-Yates contract. The note suggests that with the President in Geneva, there is no desire to press Adams to appear immediately since he must be unusually busy.

It could, of course, be added that there is no desire on the subcommittee's part to put on the star actor of Dixon-Yates while Geneva is monopolizing the nation's headlines. For in discovering that Adams played a part in that controversial affair, Democrats have at last arrived where they have longed to be which is squarely in the immediate vicinity of the President's desk.

Adams' duties can truly be described as those of assistant president and Eisenhower himself has said "Sherm" makes his life possible. This feeling of obligation was the real reason for the President's recent New England safari, Adams being a former governor and member of the house from New Hampshire.

With Adams, Kefauver hopes to break the jinx which has marked other Democratic efforts to put the blame for mismanagement in the President's lap. Parents worry about the Salk vaccine confusion but they blame Mrs. Hobby. Educators are angry about inaction in the school field but they blame Mrs. Hobby, Treasury Secretary Humphrey and the Democratic Congress. The postal workers are mad at the postmaster general. Secretary Dulles takes the rap on foreign policy.

It is all very discouraging for a party in search of an issue.

The circumstances under which Adams entered the Dixon-Yates inquiry were an investigator's dream. The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, J. Sinclair Armstrong was refusing to tell the subcommittee why the SEC suddenly cancelled hearings on the financing of the contract the day the House was scheduled to vote on it. Armstrong said Attorney General Brownell had advised him this fell within the President's prohibition on revealing private White House conversations.

With this clear indication that at last they were getting somewhere the subcommittee sent Armstrong home to talk it over with the attorney general. The next day the SEC chairman testified that Adams had called and asked for postponement. Then he clammed up again.

The subcommittee didn't mind that new dose of attempted secrecy at all. It is too happy to have reason to call a presidential intimate, a man closely identified with the President in the public mind. Washington at least knows that "Adams calling" rates next to "Eisenhower calling" in the power to get action.

Adams, charming socially and gruff politically, has not been tested as a congressional witness. The question of how he will do in his baptism of fire will crowd the hearing with curious spectators.

He is in a difficult position. He must know the whole story of Dixon-Yates. If he takes refuge behind the President's prohibition as Armstrong first attempted to do, it will produce an effect of secrecy bound to be harmful politically. This is one hearing in which both sides will be wary and well-prepared.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Destiny Has Named Eisenhower

GENEVA—The drama of this conference of the four powers is very largely concentrated in one man. That man is Dwight Eisenhower, President of the United States at this moment in the greatest crisis in the history of mankind.

The fact that he should today read the opening address at a conference on which the peace of the world and the future of western man depends is in itself drama of a very high order. Fifteen years ago he was an obscure army officer whose career had shown to the outside no particular promise of great things to come, with the events that were to shape his destiny still unseeable and unknowable. It is his intuitive understanding of the role in which his extraordinary destiny has cast him that is part of his strength.

In what the President said in his rather brief opening remarks the only important new element was the prospect of American acceptance of disarmament on the basis not of complete inspection and control but of prevention of a surprise attack. This is close to the Russian concept. Otherwise he made the points he had been expected to make about German reunification, disarmament, the satellite states, and international Communism.

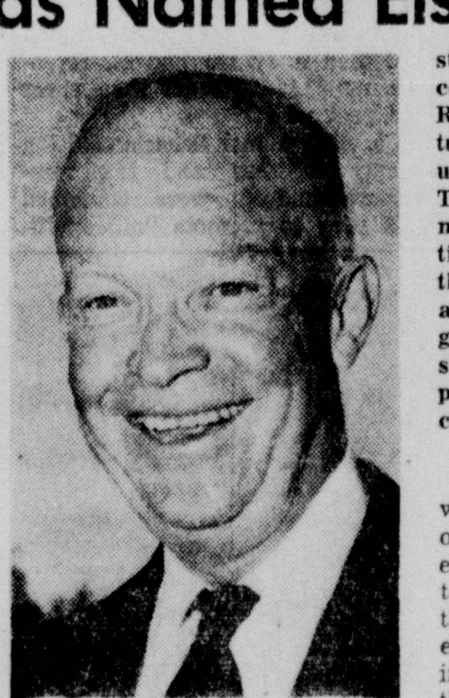
But he spoke with a modesty and a reserve that found an immediate response even among some who have been most critical and suspicious of America. This was not the pronouncement of a propagandist but the earnest plea of a man seeking a path to understanding and mutual respect. As he said, "We are not here merely to catalogue our differences nor to repeat the same dreary exercises that have characterized most of the negotiations of the past 10 years. This is a promising and hopeful beginning and the critical question now is how the Russians will respond.



PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

Thus he could say when he landed at the Geneva airport that in representing the hopes for peace of America he represented a force greater than he did when he came to Europe in 1944 with a vast army and air force.

That is the kind of confidence making itself felt not only here but throughout Europe and perhaps in Asia as well. It is this element — the capacity to lead from strength that has been missing, for all of America's vast physical power, until the President began during the past six months to discover that he must himself take the lead and put aside at least for a time of trial and testing the fears and doubts of the professional agents of diplomacy.

That is the essential meaning of this meeting at which in the opening stages at least there is every indication that the President intends to carry through the positive and constructive lead that he has begun to assume. As a consequence of the leadership in recent months his popularity in Europe is nearly as great as it was in the immediate aftermath of liberation in 1945. After the doubts and fears of the McCarthyist phase the realization is growing that Eisenhower is truly the President and leader in fact as well as in title of the most powerful nation in the world.

The destiny of this man from Abilene is curiously related to Europe, symbolizing the coming out of the western sky in his beautiful silver plane and a deep and poignant meaning that, for all the thousands of words written about that simple ceremony, can scarcely be conveyed.

He had come to Europe first as merely another general named Eisenhower, chosen by his chief of staff, George Marshall, and the commander in chief, Franklin Roosevelt, to lead an army. He returned a second time more or less under duress at the insistence of Truman to become supreme commander of NATO. Now a third time he has come back, and in this instance of his own volition and choice, to try to do what, given all the complex circumstances of domestic and foreign politics, perhaps no other American could do.

As with every man in history who has stood in such a lofty place one cannot help but think of the element of luck that has helped to bring him where he is. During the war and in its immediate aftermath Eisenhower was a passive, if not an inactive, participant in the difficult decisions that have destroyed the reputations of many other men in the years when America's fear of Communism at home as well as abroad was an obsession. Yet, he came through more or less untouched.

It is a part of his good fortune, and perhaps in a larger sense the good fortune of the West in this moment of decision, that through all the years of the cold war he has never been directly attacked by Soviet Russia. His policies as president have been attacked, but the blame has been put on his advisers and most often on Dulles, who is a constant target of abuse. If therefore, the Soviets actually mean to try to negotiate peace they will have no face-saving problem in having to recant their attacks on the principal spokesman for the West.

The feeling about Eisenhower should not be misunderstood in America. It is nothing like the almost hysterical adulation that greeted Woodrow Wilson when he came to Paris at the end of World War I. Europe then still believed in saviors and the millenium of a world state which Wilson, the evangel of peace, seemed to promise.

Europe has suffered too many shocks and disillusions to cherish such wild hopes today. On the American president there is concentrated the hope not of a new day to be ushered in next month or next year but for a slow and inevitably uncertain and probably painful way out of the dead end that has seemed to promise nothing but more suffering, chaos and finally, extinction.

This hope may be crushed. Eisenhower may fail. But he is speaking with the voice of a strong and confident America, and that is in itself an enormously heartening phenomenon. The political climate in Russia may not have altered in any real and meaningful way. But there is the feeling in Europe that the climate in America has altered, and the man responsible for the alteration is conveying here a sense of what this alteration means.

Proceeding With Care

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: People who think that any good can come from the Soviet peace proposals have had very little experience with the Red "slickers" in arriving at their intended ends. Some years ago a Communist declared:

"War to the hilt between Communism and Capitalism is inevitable today. Of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in 20 or 30 years. To win we shall need the element of surprise. The enemy will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular peace move on record. There will be electrifying overtures and unheard-of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to co-operate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist."

Could anything be more clearly expressed than the methods which the Russians are now using to entrap us? "Electrifying concessions" have been made in Austria from which country the Soviets are withdrawing their troops after having signed a peace treaty.

Chancellor Adenauer has been invited to Russia and will probably be told he can procure a unified Germany if he is willing to pull out of the western alliance.

It all fits into the plan of luring the "stupid and decadent" capitalist countries into the Russian trap so they will be able to "smash us with their clenched fist."

ROUGH SPEECH

It was plain that he was angry
over something he had read,
And I am not repeating here the bitter words he said.

It was far from pretty language,
But a generous gift he made
To a family in trouble and in desperate need of aid.

"To be penniless is fearful," he remarked with many a curse,
"But to friendless be, and helpless, and afraid is even worse.

They need a friend this minute;
and though strangers they may be,
I am giving this to show them
that they have a friend in me."

His speech was far from proper.
It was bitter; it was rough.
Man is apt to be outspoken when he's naturally gruff.

So I merely tell the story of the generous gift he made
To show his heart is tender and his hand is quick to aid.

STAN DELAPLANE'S
POSTCARD

Though I brush my teeth twice a day and consult my dentist twice a year, little comes of this consultation.

Every six months, bibbed like a baby and trying to mumble an answer when the man says:

"Well, well, and how are we today?"

Well, doc, I am not so well today. That is what I am mumbling through the buzzer and the rubber gag. I am no child, doctor. A lot of mouthwash has gone over the rubber dam. The fact that I must consult my dentist twice a year convinces me that science is lagging in the chopper department.

Brush up, brush down, brush sideways. Every six months we need shoring up with gold, silver and porcelain.

I am falling apart most of the time. What with poison oak, falling of the room rent and rare tropical ailments. But it seems to me my teeth are running all the rest in this running breakdown.

I use ammoniated dental cream. My mouthwash has vitamins and is guaranteed to remove carbon knocks and give smoother performance. My branch water is loaded with fluoride, courtesy of the Health Department. My gums are massaged with chlorophyll. I chew cloves and lavender. I am mighty sweet.

Comes the end of six months and your letter:

"Our records show that you should consult . . ."

"Awk, awk, mumble, OUCH!"

Well, I find one consolation while Science is neglecting our teeth and fiddling with the mushroom cloud. Every scientist winds up even as you and I. Every six months, cringing in the chair.

Teeth are the whipping boy of science. Let a medic run out of other ideas, he sends you over to have your teeth out. Get a stubborn case of hives and, so help me, pretty soon they are looking at your choppers.

I do not know how many of my friends have deposited their mouth equipment on such vague advice. They have one advantage. They don't consult their dentist anymore. Just mail in the teeth.

Also comes the time when the hives itch worse than ever. The medic looks grave. Suddenly he snaps his fingers.

"Why, man," he says, "you've got poison oak!"

Leave your new teeth on his chair. They may bite him.

Except for one tooth lost in a spectacular velocipede crash, I have hung onto my original hardware.

I would think this would encourage dentists to save the rest. Not so. Dentists all over the world have the same line of patter. They go over your mouth with a good deal of "hmmmmming." They squirt the fizz water at you and step back.

"Who put that one in for you?" they say sadly. "We ought to do something about that one." Something," friends, means jerking it out. If I had let every dentist have his way, I would be gumming porridge today.

The young women who gather these days at my rustic home are mainly in bands. Everybody wears bands and cannot eat corn on the cob. This gives me a whole new set of teeth to look into.

From going over my own offspring, I have determined that the fault lies right at the beginning. Already I am hauling this sullen child to the chair. Not every six months but every week.

Her teeth seemed to come in independently. As though they had appointments in different directions. This matter is now being straightened out at something near the price of a solid gold Cadillac.

I assume this will go on until science gets off the mushroom cloud and on the ball.

My robust comments: "It won't hurt a bit," have only succeeded in ruining a fine relationship. We both know I am a thundering liar.

We both aproach the office with the same relutance. She to the inner chamber of cotton and rubber. We give each other brave smiles as we part.

And at this point I collapse with an old copy of Life and perspiring palms. We both have our teeth but sometimes we wonder, is it worth it?

Two Davy Crockett fans wound up in police custody Tuesday after the two foraged four department stores for souvenirs of their hero.

Police said the two were turned over to their parents.

Cadillac

Second Car He Ever Owned!

Time was when a man wouldn't have considered a Cadillac until he had owned four—or five—or even six different motor cars.

But nowadays more and more motorists—like the happy man you see in the picture above—are stepping right up from their first car to a Cadillac.

There are, we think, two basic reasons for this wonderful change.

To begin with, the temptation to make the move to Cadillac has never been greater than it is today.

The car's arresting grace and beauty . . . its captivating luxury and graciousness . . . and its heart-winning performance have all been brought to new peaks of perfection for 1955.

And secondly, the path to Cadillac has never before been so clearly marked or so easily traveled.

Take original cost, for instance. The purchase price of the lowest-priced Cadillac is actually little more than many models in the medium-price field.

And then consider Cadillac's economy. Few automobiles of any size or make will travel farther on a gallon of gasoline . . . and the car is all but free from any save the most routine costs of maintenance.

And, finally, there is the car's resale value. Year after year, Cadillac cars return their owners a higher percentage on their original investments than any other automobiles in the land.

So if you want a Cadillac—don't feel that you have to advance gradually to the car of cars.

If you are ready to make the move, the automobile you now own is the perfect steppingstone.

Why not stop in soon and see for yourself? You'll find that we have some very pleasant news for you about cost and delivery.

COUNTY BOARD DECLINES TO TAKE BULL BY HORNS

The Lancaster County Board declined to take the bull by the horns.

The commissioners noted that Lincoln Speedway, operators of the stock car race track at Capitol Beach, has scheduled a bullfight and stunt drivers show Thursday night, but that its license is restricted to Sunday night operation, except by special permission.

Atty. Lyle Holland said he had discussed the matter with Chairman Russell Brehm, according to a telephone conversation reported to the Board.

Brehm told the Board that he didn't recall any such conversation with Holland, a partner of Lincoln Speedway.

The Board decided Tuesday to take "no action at this time," which indicates the event will probably be staged on schedule.

FHA Insurance Applications On Home Loans Set Record

OMAHA (AP) — Applications for Federal Housing Administration (FHA) insurance on home loans are pouring in at a record pace despite a tightening of the mortgage market, Robert C. Hastings, Nebraska FHA director, said Tuesday.

He said about 185 applications are being received at the state office each week compared with an expected average of 120.

The ratio of individual custom jobs and speculative building loans is about fifty-fifty, Hastings said. This compared with a two-third majority of speclulative applications in April.

He attributed the tighter supply of mortgage money to (1) a more favorable rate on bonds competing with mortgages or investment money and (2) a national feeling among big investors that there may be an oversupply of housing.

As a result, some investors have dropped out of the market and almost all mortgages are selling at a discount.

"This doesn't seem to affect the applications, though," Hastings explained.

"But it should serve to warn individuals they should be sure of a source of financing before they get too far along in planning a new house."

Commissioner Lindberg Named In 2 Grand Jury Indictments

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP) — Sarpy County Commissioner Harry F. Lindberg was named in two Sarpy County grand jury indictments made public here Tuesday.

Lindberg, who lives at the edge of Omaha, was charged in one indictment with forgery and in the other with having a pecuniary interest in a contract in behalf of Sarpy County.

Also indicted was Merle O. Pelton, Bellevue insurance man, who was charged with aiding in the commission of a felony.

In the forgery indictment the grand jury accused Lindberg of forging an indorsement on a check for $92.71 made out to Merlin Quigley of Bellevue and signed by W. Snare of Gretna. Both are insurance men.

The other indictment against Lindberg accuses him of receiving benefits of a contract executed on behalf of Sarpy County with the Aetna Insurance group for the furnishing of county insurance. The first count involves the check that Lindberg is accused of forging and the second involves a check for $161 made payable to Lindberg and signed by Pelton. The Pelton indictment charged that he committed a felony by delivering the check to Lindberg.

In its general report the grand jury said that "insurance contracts with the county have provided a fertile field for questionable practices . . . for a period of three years—1951-1954—the commissions from the only company and agent directly dealt with by the county were distributed to certain agents in all three commissioner districts as the commissioners directed."

Lindberg and Pelton appeared before District Judge John Dierks of Nebraska City. Lindberg posted $2,000 in bonds and Pelton posted a $1,000 cash bond.

Corn Crop Hinges On Weather Next 3 Or 4 Weeks

High Humidity, Temperatures Are Favorable

The next three or four weeks should spell the fate of Nebraska's presently top-notch corn crop, government observers reported Tuesday.

Much of the corn is now reaching the critical tasseling stage, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

"The size of the crop will depend largely on the moisture received during the next three or four weeks," the agency's weekly crop report observed.

As of last weekend, corn was holding its "previous high condition." Rains in eastern Nebraska improved the outlook enough to offset a slight deterioration in the dry areas.

Humidity has averaged higher than usual so far during July and this, with favorable temperatures, has contributed to corn's "splendid progress," the report said. Some damage from corn borers and grasshoppers is reported, however.

Wheat yields, meanwhile, continue to tell the better-than-expected story.

71 Per Cent Harvested

Harvest was just getting started in part of the Panhandle last week but good to excellent yields are expected.

By the week end, the statewide harvest was 71 per cent completed. Area percentages included northwest, just starting; central, 85; east central, 99; southwest, 82; south central, 96; southeast, 99.

Other crop report observations:

Although small grains have not done as well as hoped, there still are some very good yields of oats and barley, especially in the Panhandle. Recovery from the spring drought, especially by late planted oats, was better than expected.

Sorghums Need Rain

Grain sorghums and soybeans have made "excellent progress." Sorghums could use rain but showers recently covered most of the soybean belt.

Beans, potatoes and sugar beets on the table land in the Panhandle have made good progress but flood and hail damage have been felt in the North Platte Valley.

The second crop of alfalfa was good and the third crop is off to a good start in the area receiving substantial rains last week. Elsewhere more moisture is needed.

West Short On Moisture

Crops are needing moisture in most of the western two-thirds of the state, much of which has received little rainfall this month. Northeastern and most of east central Nebraska received fair to substantial rainfall last week. The extreme southeast and a few southern counties are short of moisture.

Rainfall throughout the state during the past week included:

Dredge Halted Near Decatur

A sandbar on the Missouri River near Decatur delayed the southbound trip of this big dredge boat, the Western Chief. In use on the Gavins Point Dam in South Dakota, the dredge is enroute to a new project at Kingsbay, Ga. (Photo Special to The Star)

Sandbar Temporarily Delays Big Dredge Boat On Missouri

Lincoln Star Special

TEKAMAH, Neb. The Western Chief, biggest dredge boat ever to travel on the Missouri River in this region, was temporarily stalled on a sandbar about a mile north of the new Missouri River Bridge at Decatur en route to its destination in Georgia.

The big dredge boat has a hull 170 ft. long, 40 ft. wide and 22 ft. deep, and is equipped with pontoons to help provide buoyancy in shallow waters and over sandbars. It requires about 6 feet of water to navigate freely and has 11,000 horse power.

H. H. Coleman is the captain in charge. He has a crew of around 30 men, including chief engineer, assistant engineers, electricians, mechanics, levermen, deckhands and a cook. Roy Durio, Arnaudville, La., is provision clerk, Durio travels by truck on the highways near the river and keeps the boat and crew in necessary supplies and provisions.

The dredge, property of the Western Contracting Corp. of Sioux City, Ia., has been in use on the Gavins Point Dam in South Dakota. It left Yankton May 27 and started on the way to a new project at Kingsbay, Ga. To reach its destination it will travel down the Missouri River to Omaha, Kansas City and St. Louis, thence down the Mississippi River to New Orleans, on through the intracoastal waterway, around the tip of Florida and up the Eastern coast to Georgia.

The dredge came through about two miles of a section of the new channel being completed north of the Decatur bridge but was grounded. It will travel on down the river in the main channel which has not yet been turned under the bridge.

Workmen are busily dredging the new pilot channel which has now been extended up the river and under the new bridge. When it is completed in the near future, the main channel will be turned into the newly dredged pilot channel and the river will be transferred from a point east of the bridge. Approaches will then be completed.

"We expect the new bridge to be ready for traffic by October 1," W. W. Small, chairman of the Burt County Commission, said.

Blackstone Receives Promotion With SEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission said George A. Blackstone, native of Hastings, will become regional administrator at the San Francisco office on Aug. 1.

Blackstone will succeed Andrew Downey Orrick, who became a member of the commission itself in May. Blackstone has been assistant U.S. attorney for the northern district of California.

River Travel Slow, College Trio Discover

VALLEY, Neb. (AP) — Three college students drifting down the Platte River on a raft passed here Tuesday and reported they weren't making the kind of time they had hoped for.

"I haven't had time to sit down and write postcards between pushes, but we're hoping to reach deeper and faster water," said one of the trio, Don White.

The three began a cross-country trip by bicycle from Los Angeles, but transferred to a raft at Columbus, Neb. They had to beach their craft Saturday night and Monday night, but kept going through Sunday night, each man taking turns at guiding the raft while the others slept.

Sand banks have been giving them difficulty.

Because of the slow going the trio decided to cut off a planned side trip into Canada.

They expect to reach the Missouri River in about three days. At St. Louis, they'll turn to their bikes again. They hope to reach New York by Aug. 15.

Others of the party are Aaron Cohen, 20, and Richard Shapiro, 21. All are college students.

Milligan School Bids Turned Down

MILLIGAN, Neb.—At a mass meeting of Milligan school district voters, construction bids on a new school addition were turned down.

The bid rejection was another delay in the long struggle for increased school facilities in Milligan. Prior to the issuance of bonds, school officials were faced with a drawn out problem of determining suitable architect's plans.

The voters also rejected a plan to build the planned gymnasium and classrooms separately.

Driver Fatally Hurt In Crash

GORDON, Neb. (AP) — A delayed report of the death of a man from injuries suffered in an accident near here boosted Nebraska's traffic death toll for the year to 154 Tuesday.

Erven O. Wantz Jr., 20, Valentine, died in a Gordon hospital. He was fatally injured in a one-car accident about nine miles north of here on Highway 27.

State Highway Patrolman Felix Konig said a car driven by Wantz went off the road, knocked over a power pole and overturned.

The lone passenger in the car, Beaufort M. Nay, 48, Gordon, suffered minor bruises.

There were 164 traffic deaths in the state last year at this time.

Polk Completes School Merger

OSCEOLA, Neb. (AP) — A new consolidated school district with a total valuation of over five million dollars has been formed here, completing the program of school consolidation for Polk County's four towns.

Polk, Stromsburg and Shelby previously had formed consolidated districts.

MORE news of houseguests tells us that Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Chesen are visiting in Lincoln with Mr. Chesen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chesen. Mr. and Mrs. Chesen arrived in Lincoln Monday evening after spending a week in Chicago. They will be in Lincoln for about a week and then will return home to Wichita, Kan., with their children, Cathy and Billy, who have been visiting with their grandparents while their parents were in Chicago.

MENTION of travelers reminds us that Mrs. D. B. Porter of Omaha, who is traveling in Europe this summer, recently met Mrs. L. R. Doyle in Dublin, Ireland. Mrs. Doyle left Lincoln not too long ago for Dublin, where she currently is residing, and the two friends met quite by accident in the Emerald Isles.

Church Wedding In California

Miss Barbara Mahler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mahler of Ontario, Calif., became the bride of Bob Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wentink of Lincoln, on Friday evening, June 17, in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church at Ontario. White candles burning in bronze candelabra and arrangements of white Marconi daisies appointed the chancel for the double ring ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. Eugene Barnard, and Mrs. Roger Moore of Pomona, organist, played the wedding music.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Rogene Logan of Ontario, who wore a waltz-length frock of pale blue nylon with white trim. Her flowered headband was in the pink tone, and she carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Milton Hall of Ontario served Mr. Patterson as best man, and seating the guests was George Pyper.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white dotted nylon over crisp taffeta designed in the daytime mode. The snug bodice was covered by a very brief jacket of the nylon, accented by cap sleeves and a turned-down collar, and the full skirt was narrowly sashed and banded in satin. She wore a cap of small white flowers trimmed with illusion, and carried a white orchid frilled with stephanotis and satin.

MR. AND MRS. B OB PATTERSON

Upon their return from a short honeymoon at Laguna Beach and Santa Barbara, the couple was honored at a reception held in the parlors of the Westminster Church for which Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mahler were host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, both former students at Chaffey Junior College, will make their home at Pomona. The bridegroom is a veteran of four years service with the Navy.

Bulganin Snubs Security-Pact Offer

GENEVA (AP) — Premier Bulganin Tuesday brushed aside as unwarranted Britain's offer of a five-nation security pact to insure the peace of Europe.

Looking directly at Prime Minister Eden, the Soviet leader said "The Soviet Union does not depend on the guarantees of others such as those proposed."

The Eden type "guarantees and safeguards," he indicated, are "comprehensible for weak states which are not in a position to defend themselves, but unwarranted in the case of strong powers."

His remarks at the third session of the summit parley replied to Eden's suggestion Monday that the Big Four plus a united Germany should join in a security treaty binding each to go to the aid of any innocent victim of attack. As Eden outlined the project:

Neighbors

These five nations should negotiate limitations on the arms and armies maintained by the East and West in Germany and Germany's neighbors.

The five should also examine the possibility of demilitarizing an area of unspecified length and width between East and West in Europe.

Eden arose at the first opportunity to defend his project.

He recalled Russia had submitted a proposal for a security treaty which would include the countries of Europe, the United States and Canada.

Delay Offset

If such a security alliance is not "shocking or wounding," he asked, why should a five-power treaty be so?

His idea in proposing the five-power treaty, he explained, was to offset any delay in uniting Germany and in providing safeguards for those countries which might legitimately feel threatened by the power of the once-aggressive Germans.

Bulganin's dismissal of Eden's proposals left British delegates surprised and puzzled. One British informant wondered whether Russia is deliberately trying to create the impression she is so strong she is disinterested in safeguards unless they are part of a global system.

ROAD BILL RE-APPROVED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee Tuesday re-approved a huge highway construction bill 17-9 after making it a little easier on users of diesel fuel and the camelback material employed in retreading tires.

However, the committee voted to have the new rates on these and other highway user taxes, including gasoline, run nearly 16 years instead of the 15 years provided for when the bill was first approved Friday.

The net effect was figured by committeemen to add about 400 million more dollars in the 16 years running until the middle of 1971.

The highway user tax increases would bring in about $12,400,000,000 additional in the 16 years, to apply toward a total construction expenditure of 48½ billlion dollars in the next 12 years. The main change is a boost in the federal gasoline tax from the present 2 cents a gallon to 3 cents.

Limited

On the basis of Tuesday's changes, the tax on diesel fuel would be 4 cents a gallon, as against the present 2 cents. It was proposed Friday to make it 5 cents. Also, the 15-cents-a-pound new tax to be imposed on camelback would be limited to that used by large cars and trucks. It had been proposed to apply to all sizes.

Another last-minute committee change would exempt, from most of the tax increases, transit companies who have 75 per cent of their traffic within city limits. These firms would still have to pay the planned stepup of from 8 to 10 per cent in the manufacturers' excise on buses and trucks.

Meanwhile, there arose the possibility that the Senate will not finally vote on a complete road construction bill, although it has approved one minus financing provisions.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee said it would want to hold hearings on the tax features of the legislation. There may not be enough time, with Congress aiming for adjournment by July 30.

Blue River Irrigators Controlled; Loup Water Deadline Today

For the second time in the history of Nebraska the amount of water taken from the Blue River for irrigation is being controlled by the state.

Dan Jones, head of the irrigation section of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation, revealed Tuesday that requests from water users along the Blue prompted the action.

A similar request last summer brought a 10-day restriction, until rains relieved the problem.

Jones pointed out that the situation is nothing to get alarmed about saying it is "a routine thing to do this far west." Such action in the eastern part of the state is, however, "a little bit unusual."

The farms affected are along the upper reaches of the Blue, from Seward north and west through Butler and Polk Counties.

Restrictions are enforced by closing or slowing the irrigation pumps, with the holders of the oldest state permits getting first chance at the available water.

The last three rainless weeks caused the pinch, Jones said, and he thought a good rain would solve the shortage.

Meantime, the twice-deferred deadline arrives Wednesday morning for pump irrigators in the Loup River Basin to begin paying for the water they use.

Thenceforth, irrigation permits will go only to those who have reached agreement with the Loup River Public Power District on payments for the water.

The question of how much the irrigators should pay for the water has been at issue but a stop-gap agreement reached between attorneys for the irrigators and Loup district representatives at a meeting in Columbus appears to have broken the impasse.

Under the agreement, irrigators will deposit "good faith" money in a Grand Island bank to guarantee payment based on $1 per acre foot.

Irrigation Chief Jones declined comment on the development Tuesday pending some indication of how widely the agreement is accepted among the basin's estimated 400 to 500 pump irrigators, and how quickly the individual agreements are drawn up.

It was presumed a permit would be issued to the individual irrigator as soon as the State Irrigation Department is notified that the irrigator and the Loup district are in agreement.

The Loup district has prior rights to Loup River water. As a result, irrigators holding junior rights can use the water only if they compensate the district for it. This year, for the first time, the Loup district has demanded payment from such irrigators.

Elgin Has Penny-Size Battery, Says It'll Last More Than Year

Lincoln Star Special

ELGIN, Ill.—A battery which is smaller in diameter than half a penny and only about twice as thick has been developed by Elgin National Watch Company.

The new "micro-cell" is the first expendable energy source that will not leak, swell or gas, Elgin officials said.

It will provide a more dependable source of electricity for small, portable devices like hearing aids, radios and photo-flash devices, spokesman said.

A. P. Barton, Elgin electronics division manager, said the tiny battery has maintained full strength without deterioration in storage tests for more than a year.

Made for an electronic wrist watch now being developed, the battery has enough energy to operate specialized miniature electronic devices at virtually constant voltage for two years.

This, Barton said, is at least 25 per cent more capacity than any other comparable sealed cell previously developed.

Idium, a soft, silvery metal never before used as a battery element, is used as an anode (positive terminal).

It eliminates leakage and gassing, Barton said, so that the cell can be placed in a thin plastic case much smaller than the volume normally required for a case.

This also is the first cell that can readily be made almost any size or shape, Barton said. Most cells are limited to a cylindrical shape.

ELGIN BATTERY . . . compared to penny.

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

At the start of the current home stand, the Lincoln Chiefs were in fourth place in the Western League, six and a half games off the pace set by Colorado Springs.

This can be traced directly to a slow-down at home as well as on the road during July.

On July 4, the Chiefs were 24-12 at home (.667) and 17-23 on the road (.425). Prior to Tuesday's game, the Sherman Field record stood at 27-16 (.628) and the road mark dropped to 21-32 (.396).

Lincoln holds good margins over Pueblo, Wichita and Des Moines at home, a fair mark over last place Sioux City and trails Colorado Springs.

The Chiefs' won-lost record at home looks like this:

	W	L	Pct.
Colorado Springs	3	5	.375
Wichita	6	2	.750
Pueblo	7	3	.700
Des Moines	7	3	.700
Sioux City	5	3	.625
Total	28	16	.636

On the road, Lincoln has an edge only on Pueblo, 7-5. The travel chart reads like this:

Colorado Springs	6	7	.462
Wichita	3	9	.250
Pueblo	7	5	.583
Des Moines	2	5	.286
Sioux City	3	6	.300
Total	21	32	.396

Overall, the Chiefs are ahead of only third place Pueblo and fifth-place Des Moines. The chart:

	W	L	Pct.
Colorado Springs	9	12	.429
Wichita	9	11	.389
Pueblo	14	8	.636
Des Moines	9	8	.529
Sioux City	8	9	.471
Total	49	48	.505

All this testifies to the tightness of the race and the equality of the teams. But it also points out that Lincoln must pick up the home tempo and improve the showing away from Sherman Field if the Chiefs are going to make a bid.

This brings us to the remaining games. The Chiefs have 53 games to play, 31 at home and 22 on the road.

Wiht more games at home, a general upsurge before the Shermantown fans could be a big help. Put this together with a travel boost and the Chiefs could be in there battling to the wire.

The road slate favors Lincoln, since 14 of the 22 remaining games are with bottom-rungers Sioux City and Des Moines.

In fact, 25 of the Chiefs remaining 53 games are with the Soos and the Bruins, which could make a lot of difference—if Lincoln can get going against the Soos, especially.

Another thing in Lincoln's favor is the fact that Pueblo is here for five more games, while the Sky Sox and the Indians are slated seven more times.

Actually, the remainder of the schedule favors the Chiefs all the way, so there's a good chance for Lincoln to finish in the money.

The rest of the schedule:

	Here	Away	Total
Colorado Springs	7	3	10
Wichita	7	3	10
Pueblo	5	3	8
Des Moines	5	8	13
Sioux City	6	6	12
Total	30	23	53

Birrer Homers Twice, Tigers Maul Baltimore

DETROIT (AP) — Werner (Babe) Birrer was a relief pitcher deluxe Tuesday, hitting two three-run home runs to go with his four innings of shutout pitching in the Detroit Tigers' 12-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Birrer, a rookie righthander from Buffalo, smacked the ball into the leftfield seats off George Zuverink in the sixth inning and Art Schallock in the eighth—each time after Frank House and Fred Hatfield were on base with singles.

They were only the second and third major league hits for the 195-pound Birrer. His other one was a double June 11 against Boston.

Birrer did not get credit for the victory, however. That went to Frank Lary, his ninth against 10 defeats. Lary held a 5-4 lead when Birrer replaced him with none out in the sixth.

Detroit totaled 14 hits off loser Jim McDonald, Zuverink, Don Johnson and Schallock. McDonald gave up the first five runs in the third inning, three of them scoring after he set up an inning-ending double play and forgot to make it.

Singles by Hatfield, Harvey Kuenn and Bill Tuttle and a double by Al Kaline scored two runs and left runners on second and third with one out. McDonald then intentionally walked light-hitting Earl Torgeson to take a chance on catching Ray Boone in a double play.

Boone obliged with a smash back to McDonald, but with an easy out at either the plate or second base, he merely threw to first. Tuttle scored, and Charlie Maxwell followed with a two-run single.

Lary gave up a home run to the first batter he faced, Fred Marsh.

Card, Giant Hurlers Trade Four-Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Willard Schmidt tossed a four-hitter to beat New York's Giants 3-1 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday night and John (Windy) McCall came back to check the St. Louis Cardinals on four hits in the nightcap for a 4-2 New York victory.

It was the first complete game in the majors for both pitchers. Schmidt, a 26-year-old righthander making his third try to stick with the Cards, got his support from home runs by rookies Bill Virdon and Ken Boyer in the opener.

Willie Mays, with three hits in four trips, got the Giants started in the first inning of the nightcap, hitting his 28th homer of the year.

Lincoln Backs Hall With 11-Hit Attack In 11-3 Win

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

With Dick Hall chucking in his usual fashion and his mates backing him with an impressive hitting attack, the Lincoln Chiefs opened their 13-day home stand in thunderous fashion Tuesday night, smashing Pueblo, 11-3.

What started out as a tight mound duel between Hall and Dodger Southpaw Jim Mertlik exploded into a one-sided affair midway through the contest and Dick coasted to his 12th victory of the year.

The two teams meet again tonight at Sherman Field, with bespectacled Bill Nordberg, who's won eight and lost four, going for the Chiefs against the Dodgers' Glenn McMinn, five and three on the season. Game time is 8 p.m.

Making the victory even more pleasant was the fact that it enabled the Chiefs to pull within a half game of the third-place Dodgers. And the whole race tightened as Sioux City dumped Colorado Springs twice and Wichita lost to Des Moines.

Hall, in completing his 15th game in 17 starts, was nicked for seven hits — he had a two-hit shutout going into the seventh — but he fanned 12 Dodgers to keep himself out of serious difficulty.

Don Musto was the only Coloradan to draw a walk from the former Swarthmore College scholar and that came with one out in the ninth. Dick's strikeout total now is 138, tops in the league, and he's walked only 37 to date.

Lincoln didn't get a hit off Mertlik — the first of three Dodger hurlers — until the fourth, but from that point on the Chiefs rapped out 11 safeties in vengeful fashion to snap a four-game losing streak.

An error, a single and a walk loaded the bases in the fourth before Rex Babcock's base knock — the first of three hits, including a double — drove in two runs.

Then Warren Goodrich lashed a clean hit to left and it went for a triple when Pedro Almenares slipped and fell when the ball bounced away from him, making it 4-0.

Mertlik came back for more — the fourth inning runs were all unearned, incidentally — in the fifth, but after a walk and a single, he left in favor of John McKinnon.

Before McKinnon could douse the fire, three more Lincoln runs were in, thanks to a pair of boots, a walk and singles by the big men of the previous inning, Babcock and Goodrich.

Nick Koback's triple and a single by Jack Falls added another in the sixth.

Goerge Barker came on for the Dodgers in the seventh and was treated roughly. Frank Rice singled with one out and was followed by Gene Stair who did a repeat performance.

Up stepped the here-to-fore light-sticking Babcock again and Rex promptly doubled to rightfield, scoring Rice and Stair. Babcock went to third on the toss to the plate and scored a minute later on — of all people — Goodrich's sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers took advantage of the cooled-down Hall in the seventh and his shutout hopes were dashed.

Singles by Almenares, Willie Davis, Don Musto and Dean Ehlers accounted for the first two Pueblo runs. An error, a wild pitch and Almenares' second base hit—he also doubled — provided the Dodgers with run No. 3.

The trio of Hall, Babcock and Goodrich did their work well. Dick provided the pitching, while Rex's three-for-four accounted for five RBIs and Goody drove in four runs with his two-for-two.

All things considered, the long home stand got a booming sendoff.

Smoke Signals . . .Babcock picked a good night to break out of a hitting slump. His dad from Santa Ana, Calif., was in the stands . . . Eddie Moore, joined the Dodgers from St. Paul of the American Association Tuesday. The big outfielder fanned as a pinchhitter in his only appearance . . . Dodger Manager Goldie Holt reports First Baseman Bill Gabler may be out for the season. Gabler suffered a dislocated shoulder recently.

Thorpe Hurls Nifty

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Bob Thorpe faced only 27 batters while limiting Wichita to one hit here Tuesday night as the Des Moines Bruins coasted to a 6-0 victory.

Thorpe didn't strike out a batter and walked only two. Left fielder Harley Angelo collected the only hit off Thorpe, a clean single to left-center field to lead off the third inning. All three Wichita base runners were erased in double plays.

Pirates Cop 19-Inning Game From Braves

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates scored two runs in the bottom of the 19th inning to pull out a 4-3 decision over the Milwaukee Braves in the longest major league game of the season early Wednesday.

The Braves had scored a run in the top of the 19th to go into a one-run lead.

Starting pitcher Vernon Law hurled the first 18 innings for the Pirates. He struck out 12, gave up 9 hits and walked 3.

"Manager Fred Haney told me he was taking me out because he thought I might hurt my arm," said Law. "Boy 18 innings is a long time out there."

The longest previous game in the major this year was a 17-inning contest in the American League, Cleveland beating Washington 6-5 on April 27.

The longest game in the National League was played at New York May 1, the Giants beating Cincinnati 2-1 in 16 innings.

Law went the Braves down without scoring from the fifth through the 18th inning.

NSAA Expenses Over Income; Still In Black

Expenses exceeded income of the Nebraska School Activities Association (NSAA) by some two thousand dollars last year but the Association's present net worth is calculated at $78,496, financial statements showed Tuesday.

Income during the year ending May 31 totaled $45,917, compared with expenses of $48,263, according to the NSAA's 21st annual yearbook, just published. The loss amounted to $2,345.

An audit report said the loss was incurred in part due to the salary paid the assistant secretary, C. C. Thompson, formerly of Ord.

Thompson became an assistant to secretary-treasurer O. L. Webb on July 1 last year after Webb announced plans to retire effective July of this year. Thompson's elevation to the post vacated by Webb this month eliminates the assistant's position and the salary expense attending it.

Thompason drew $5,041 salary during the 11 months preceding the end of the Association's fiscal year. Webb's salary for the year was $7,475.

Major items of income during the year included $6,276 from membership fees, $36,874 from high school basketball tournament receipts, $1,020 in interest on investments, and $1,417 in registration fees for championship meets.

Of the Association's net worth of some $78,000, some $32,000 consists of money on deposit in a Lincoln bank, and some $46,000 in investments in U. S. Savings Bonds.

The NSAA is the supervising body for high school competition and activity in sports, music, debate and speech.

Shorts-Clad Golfer Four Under Par

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Alex Welsh, who practically was raised on the host Rockford Country Club golf course, fashioned a 67 Tuesday for a 36-hole score of 138, four strokes under par, to take the early halfway lead in the Western Amateur qualifying marathon.

Clad in Bermuda shorts in the muggy weather, the 35-year-old Rockford attorney, six-time city champion and runnerup in the North-South at Pinehurst last year, slammed a 33 on the front side and 34 coming back. Par for the tricky, 6,500-yard course, where Welsh has played since he was big enough to hold a golf club, is 35-36—71.

Middlecoff Is PGA Choice

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

DETROIT (AP) — A stop-and-go tournament program has paid off for Cary Middlecoff this season in two prestige-loaded golf titles, three other tournament victories and $22,643.93 in cash. And it has made him favored to win another big one when the 37th Professional Golfers Association championship gets going today.

Fresh from winning the rich Milwaukee Open last week, the ex-molar mauler from Memphis took a deep breath of Detroit's steamy hot atmosphere on his arrival at the Meadowbrook Country Club, PGA tournament site, and remarked:

"If the weather stays like this I don't know that I'll make it."

Then he went on to explain his new program, which calls for frequent rest intervals during the hot summer months.

"I can play every week on the winter tour," Cary said, "but when I get up north here in the summer, I find I have to take time off now and then."

Bull Fight To Feature Thursday Show

A full-ration of thrills is slated Thursday night at Capitol Beach when the Tournament of Thrills presents an outstanding stunt contest and Fiesta Brava.

The show will start at 8:30 p.m.

CONOCO Super Gasoline with TCP

You're missing plenty if you haven't tried the greatest gasoline development in 31 years!

Imagine! Me telling my husband about TCP!

THAT'S FOR SURE! BECAUSE ONLY CONOCO SUPER WITH TCP* COMBINES A CONTROLLED HIGHER-OCTANE RATING WITH ALL THE PROVED POWER BENEFITS OF TCP!

HONEY, WHERE ON EARTH DID ALL THIS ENGINE POWER COME FROM?

LAST WEEK, JANET TOLD ME ABOUT CONOCO SUPER WITH TCP...SO I DECIDED TO TRY IT!

REMEMBER HOW THAT ENGINE USED TO KNOCK AND PING IN TRAFFIC? NO MORE!

TAKING JOHNNY TO SCHOOL, I GET LOTS MORE POWER AND PEP. YOU'D THINK THE ENGINE HAD BEEN TUNED UP!

WELL, IT'S BY FAR THE BEST GASOLINE THIS CAR'S EVER HAD!

BEST MOTOR OIL TOO ...BECAUSE WE'RE NOW USING NEW CONOCO SUPER, THE ALL-SEASON MOTOR OIL!

MISTER, IF YOU GO FOR POWER, JUST TWO TANKFULS OF THIS ASTONISHING NEW GAS WILL BOOST POWER AS MUCH AS 15%, GIVE YOU BETTER GAS MILEAGE, LONGER SPARK PLUG LIFE, AND ALL THE BENEFITS OF AN ENGINE TUNE-UP!

AND IF YOU DO LOTS OF STOP-AND-GO DRIVING, REMEMBER THAT TCP NEUTRALIZES THOSE POWER-ROBBING LEAD AND CARBON DEPOSITS WHICH FORM ON CRITICAL ENGINE PARTS, ESPECIALLY DURING LOW-TEMPERATURE STOP-AND-GO OPERATION!

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS

By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Sen. Bill Knowland still warns us against Greeks bearing gifts. We're warning Bill against Greeks exchanging 'em.

Bugs Baer

Bill's been issuing bedside bulletins from the politics that makes odd hammock testers. His Fourt of July tub-thumping in West Vriginia is still echoing from the hills and stuttering from the valleys.

Bill was as correct as white-tie-and-tails when he said the United Nations didn't want to tackle the Birdie Tebbetts-Harry the Hat embrawlio in Cincinnati. Well, neither did Harry the Hat.

In case both Peiping and Formosa are seated Bill warns us the Chinese take an oath by breaking a dish. He says you might keep an eye on the spoons too.

Things are starting to straighten out like a waxed mustache. We knocked off the Russian eight-oared varsity at Henley-on-Thames. Their chess masters beat our checker-pushers in Moscow. And our Iowa corn doctors are showing Russian weed benders how to hide a jug in a cornfield.

Bill is right when he says it's not how you play the game that counts. It's who does the umpiring.

He's leader of the GOP senateers in a senate that is slightly democratic. If he wants the last word he has to get it in first.

Bill is not the first cato of our legislative labyrinths. Into all lives a little Carthage must fall.

Let's not forget the thistle is Scoland's national flower because barefooted enemies stepped on 'em in the dark. Their howls of pain aroused the sleeping defenders. The barefooted Scotch rushed out and also howled with pain.

That's why the Scotch national bagpipe also sounds like it has stepped on thistles.

If Bill wants to plant admonitory thistles in our national grouch patch we're with him to a man.

But with our shoes on.

2 Mill Hike Of County Tax Levy Seen To Cover Requests

...Office Requests Higher Than '54

Proposed 1955-56 budget requirements for Lancaster County would require a tax levy of 6.0395 mills to raise $1,107,128—or an increase of approximately two mills, according to County Clerk J. B. Morgan.

Morgan said this compares with the 1954 estimated levy of 4.0317 mills to raise $911,711 before action of the County Board reduced the levy to 3.968 to raise $717,212.

In cutting the amount to be raised by taxation, the County Board appropriated $150,000 from the inheritance tax fund and reduced the general fund reserves by $50,000.

This year, the Board will be hard-pressed to cut the estimated levy of over six mills despite a $2.5 million increase in the county's valuation. The 1955 estimated valuation is $183,317,305.

Up Slightly

Morgan said general fund requests total $941,930 in 1955, against the $918,794.82 requested last year and the $909,626.82 actually appropriated by the County Board.

The County Board began hearings Tuesday on the budget request of the County offices and departments.

County Engineer Louis Weaver has asked an appropriation of $182,073.13 for the highway and bridge funds which would require a levy of nearly one mill.

No Taxes

The 1955-56 bridge fund request is $114,073.13, compared with $36,313 granted last year. Nothing was raised by taxation last year for the highway fund for which is asked $68,000 this year.

Some allowance for the bridge and highway fund requests this year will have to be made by the County Board in view of the reduction of the county's share of state gas tax allocations by the 1955 Legislature and the approximately $150,000 in county gas tax funds tied up in District Court litigation.

Trimming the budget requests will be of some help, but in former years the Board also had to dip into the inheritance tax fund to cut the levy.

Last year, the Board took $150,000 from the approximately $180,000 in the fund. This year the balance on hand is only $79,566. of which $50,000 occumulated during the past fiscal year.

Marvin H. Layton Rites To Be Here

Marvin H. (Red) Layton, former University of Nebraska football player and brother-in-law of Lincoln Police Chief Joe Carroll, died at his home in Aloha, Ore., Monday.

Services are to be held in Lincoln Friday morning, and burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Layton, 57, was born in Gothenburg and was a high school athletic star there. He attended the University where he was a letterman on the football team in 1921.

He also engaged in track, competing in the Olympics in London.

He was a contractor in Aloha.

He had two sisters-in-law in Lincoln, Mrs. Frances Moran and Mrs. W. J. Griffin.

His wife Irene, of Aloha, survives him.

1955 Polio Cases 50% Of Last Year

The eight new cases of polio reported in Nebraska for the week ending July 16 brought the state total for 1955 to just half of what it was a year ago.

The total stands at 45, compared to 91 in 1954.

The cases, all paralytic, all involved persons who had not received the Salk vaccine.

Clay County reported three cases, Sarpy County two, and Platte, Douglas and Scotts Bluff Counties one each.

Federal Court Session Cut In '55 Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to limit regular sessions of federal court in Nebraska to three cities probably will not be considered this year.

A House Judiciary Committee aide said the committee has cided to take no action this year on additional bills dealing with judgeships and redistricting.

Rep. Chase (R-Neb) introduced a bill making Nebraska one judicial division instead of eight and calling for court to be held regularly only at Omaha, Lincoln and North Platte. This would eliminate sessions at Norfolk, Chadron, Grand Island, Hastings and McCook.

Chase said procedural difficulties were holding up action. He said the committee didn't want to consider a flock of such bills separately and there was doubt whether the committee would try to report out an omnibus bill this session.

Chase said efforts would be made to find "a short cut" to try to get the bill out of committee this session.

Sens. Curtis and Hruska, Nebraska Republicans, have been informed that the Senate Judiciary Committee probably will act on an identical bill sometime this week.

Donald Ross, U.S. District attorney at Omaha, said the legislation "appears to be stalled" in the House Judiciary Committee. A suggestion from Ross led to the introduction of the legislation.

Marching Band Clinic Opens At University

Round table discussions and demonstrations on phases of marching band work were held Tuesday at the University of Nebraska Marching Band Clinic, and more discussions and demonstrations were scheduled for Wednesday.

Fifty band conductors in Nebraska are attending the second annual clinic, which is under the direction of Prof. Donald Lentz, conductor of the University Band.

"Public Relations and Finance" is the topic of a panel discussion to be held Wednesday at 9 a.m. Taking part will be Art Schrepel, chairman, of Pawnee City; Merton Welch of Norfolk and Gordon Watkins of Lyman.

Scheduled at 11 a.m. is a discussion on national competition. Bill Kelly of McCook will be chairman. Also on the panel are Melvin McKenney of Plattsmouth and Dean Killion of Sidney.

Sight reading sessions will be held Wednesday afternoon. The University summer orchestra, band and chorus will read music being displayed at the annual music Materials Exhibit at the Student Union.

Tuesday activities included:

"New Ideas for Shows," with Bill Splichael, College View High School, chairman; Gene Stoll of Doane College; Ben Henry of Nebraska Agricultural High School at Curtis.

"Problems," with Earl Green of Wayne High School, chairman; Mark Crandell, Central City; Lyle Welch, Lincoln High School; Glenn Trent, York.

"Mechanical Helps for Show Bands," Duane Schultz, Nebraska City, chairman; David Fowler, Lincoln Northeast High School; Jack Wells, Santee.

Demonstration and field clinic, by University summer music students.

Funeral Held For Griswold Aid Who Died In Air Crash

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Garden City, Kan., for Lawrence H. (Boots) Norton, a member of the staff of Dwight Griswold in Greece in 1947. Norton was a victim of Sunday's plane crash in Chicago.

Mr. Norton accompanied the Nebraska senator and governor to Greece as a member of the American Mission Griswold headed. He was assistant director of the agricultural department and later became director.

He was a native of Kansas and graduated from Kansas State College at Manhattan where he was a star football player.

He taught for a year at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

After serving in Greece, Mr. Norton worked for the Agriculture Department with FOA in Holland and Greece.

Lev Says Probe Has Ruined Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Lev, Chicago cap maker to the U.S. armed forces, testified Tuesday a Senate investigation of his business deals has ruined him. "I am no more a millionaire," he said.

Lev made this financial report to the Senate Investigations subcommittee after it had heard a former Army inspector swear that Lev tried to bribe him repeatedly. The subcommittee also received a deathbed statement in which an ex-employe of Lev declared the cap maker became a millionaire "on taxpayers' money."

The balding Chicago manufacturer listened to the evidence with his head in his hands. From time to time he shook his head unhappily.

When his time came to testify, Lev began an accounting of more than $200,000 in cash he acknowleged had passed through his hands in 1952 and 1953. What he hoped to prove, he said, was that "not a broken cent" of it was used to bribe anybody.

Fox Seeking Attorney; Two Charges Filed

Lincoln Star Special

WILBER, Neb.—Following his return Tuesday to Wilber with Saline County Sheriff John Tesar, Kenneth Fox, 17, Men's Reformatory escapee and a former resident of Crete, asked County Judge C. C. Shoemaker for time to consult an attorney for his preliminary hearing.

Charges of car theft and armed robbery were filed by Saline County Attorney Alan Steinacher against Fox, who was recaptured near Kearney Monday.

Fox is charged specifically with holding 76-year-old Joseph Marcelino of Crete at shotgun point and taking $16 from his billfold, and with driving Marcelino's 1931 model car to Grafton, where it was abandoned.

Bond was set at $3,000 by Judge Shoemaker, and the hearing was continued until next Tuesday.

Officials indicated the youth also will be prosecuted in Fillmore County on charges of stealing a truck.

Fox, who escaped late Saturday night, told Buffalo County Sheriff Lloyd Frank that he went by foot to the Crete area.

The inmate told authorities he abandoned the car after it developed engine trouble and went to the Ben Robey farm where he held Karen Robey, 15, under guard for three hours. Later he reportedly stole a truck from Robert Lovegrove, who lives west of the Robey farm, and traveled to Kearney.

Meanwhile, a search continues in Gage and Jefferson Counties for Jerry Doss, 21, and George Sanders, 21, who escaped from the reformatory last Wednesday in a bacon loaded panel truck.

Reformatory Superintendent George Morris said there was nothing new Tuesday on these two escapees.

Some Stocks Lose On Early Sellout

NEW YORK (AP) — A burst of selling late in the morning sent share prices lower in the stock market Tuesday, but a general recovery in the afternoon trimmed the size of most losses.

The market started out on a mixed note and then selling gained headway. The ticker ran behind in reporting transactions during the sell off.

The recovery was headed by the aircrafts, which had been among the wider losers in recent sessions.

At the close, losses of around $2 were scattered through the list, but a few groups were almost solidly on the upside.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.00 to $172.80.

The industrials lost $1.60 and the rails $1.20 while the utilities bucked the trend to close up 30 cents at a new 1955 high of $74.70.

Volume totaled 2,300,000 shares against 2,160,000 Monday.

Market analysts were in general agreement that the Geneva conference was unsettling the market.

One observer said "a mild peace scare" brought recent selling in aircrafts, shipbuildings and similar issues.

On the American Stock exchange, lower prices predominated.

Volume was 670,000 shares, down from 720,000 Monday.

Kefauver Asks Ike's Aid Sherman Adams To Testify In Dixon-Yates Probe

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), asked presidential assistant Sherman Adams Tuesday to testify on the role he played in the now-defunct Dixon-Yates power contract.

Kefauver made the request as his Senate Judiciary subcommittee prepared to hear Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong Wednesday on Adams' intervention in SEC Dixon-Yates hearings.

Armstrong testified last week that SEC hearings on the controversial power contract were suspended at the suggestion of Adams.

The subcommittee chairman made the Adams announcement after two New York bankers completed their testimony on the activities of the First Boston Corp. which was the financial agent for the Dixon-Yates syndicate.

'Quite Apparent'

Kefauver said that from the record "it is quite apparent" there is "a substantial conflict" between the testimony of Adolphe H. Wenzell, a former First Boston vice president, and Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle-South Utilities, Inc.

The senator also insisted that Wenzell, who was accompanied by First Boston's board chairman George D. Woods, had violated the conflict of interests statute when he served as an unpaid Budget Bureau consultant on the power deal.

Wenzell, now a World Bank official, heatedly denied the charge and said that he had left the Budget Bureau before the power contract was formulated and before First Boston agreed to arrange financing of the 100 million dollar project.

In a letter to Adams, Kefauver requested that the White House chief-of-staff testify on "any informal conferences, conversations or meetings" which he attended on Dixon-Yates.

The senator said this would be in addition to the phone call Adams made to the SEC to suspend hearings on Dixon-Yates financing for three days last June.

Kefauver declared: "Since it will be the purpose of the subcommittee to insist upon the testimony from others, since your name has already been mentioned, and since your name may figure in the testimony of others who will appear, the subcommittee feels that your own appearance is especially important for a full debelopment of all the facts."

Woods denied in his testimony that his firm ahd ever tried to exert any "political influence" to become financial agent for the 100 million dollar contract which was cancelled earlier this month by President Eisenhower.

He conceded that on one occasion that he obtained from Wenzell a Budget Bureau report on the Tennessee Valley Authority and that the action amounted to "special treatment."

Consultant

Wenzell, a First Boston vice president, wrote the report while he was an unpaid Budget Bureau consultant. Last month, the White House refused to give the subcommittee the document but later changed its mind.

Wenzell has been accused of a possible violation of the ban on conflict of interest by government officials because First Boston later became Dixon - Yates financial agent after Wenzell completed his federal work.

The question of political influence was injected into the hearings by Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), who inquired whether high government officials had previous business dealings with First Boston or held stock in the firm.

Arthur H. Dean, first Boston's counsel, declared that neither Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks nor former White House aid Robert Cutler held any stock in the company.

Moreover, Dean declared: "We have never retained any lawyers or anyone else for political influence . . . I have never done it to my knowledge and I would never recommend it."

First Lady Wears 'Copied' Dress At Geneva Luncheon

GENEVA (INS) — There's nothing fickle about Mamie Eisenhower — when she likes a dress she doesn't care who else may have a copy.

The fashionwise noted that at the luncheon given by Mme. Edgar Faure for the wives of the Big Three diplomats, the U.S. first lady turned up in the same green print dress that caused a fashion furore in America last March.

On that occasion, in Washington, Mamie and Mrs. Durriss Crane showed up at a function in identical dresses.

It din't bother the first lady at all, as she now has proved again.

Tanker Trade At Air Base Is Indefinite

Lincoln Air Force Base officials said that plans for replacing the KC-97 tanker now used at the Base with a new four-jet counterpart, the KC-135, are indefinite.

The Defense Department recently announced that there would be a transition to replace the slower, propellor - driven KC-97 with the jet tanker. When it will be done locally is not known.

Officials said that since Lincoln Air Force Base is undergoing tactical training, other bases in the Strategic Air Command will have a higher priority.

The new tanker is a military version of the Boeing Aircraft Co. 707, a jet transport prototype. The 707 was built by Boeing with $15 million of their private funds before the Air Force ordered it into production with some changes.

The KC-135, like the KC-07 is convertible. It can be used either as a tanker or as a transport ship.

Although no KC-135s have been completed, Boeing officials report that the 707 prototype is being tested and the information being collected will be used to make the KC-135 a better plane.

The KC-135 is larger than the B-47 jet bombers now in use at LAFB. Wingspan of the 707, after which the KC-135 will be patterned is 130 feet and its length is 128 feet. It weighs 190,000 pounds.

The 708 has reached speeds well over 600 m.p.h. and has flown higher than 42,000 feet.

Appeal Transcript

A transcript was filed in the State Supreme Court Tuesday in connection with the appeal by Robert Fulton of Minatare from a Scotts Bluff County District Court decision against him in a paternity suit. Delores Ann Lockman, 19, Minatare, brought the District Court action.
